Language Learning at the Pre—Intermediate Level

General Principles

Traditional methods of learning a foreign language die hard. As long ago as 1921, Dr Harold Palmer pointed out the important difference between understanding how a language works and learning how to use it. Since that time, a great many effective techniques have been developed to enable students to learn a foreign language. In the light of intensive modern research, no one would seriously question the basic principles that have evolved since Palmer's day, though there is considerable disagreement about how these principles can best be implemented. Despite the great progress that has been made, teachers in many parts of the world still cling to old—fashioned methods and to some extent perpetuate the systems by which they themselves learnt a foreign language. It may, therefore, not be out of place to restate some basic principles and to discuss briefly how they can best be put into effect in the classroom.

Learning a language is not a matter of acquiring a set of rules and building up a large vocabulary. The teacher's efforts should not be directed at informing his students about a language, but at enabling them to use it. A student's mastery of a language is ultimately measured by how well he can use it, not by how much he knows about it. In this respect, learning a language has much in common with learning a musical instrument. The drills and exercises a student does have one end in sight: to enable him to become a skilled performer. A student who has learnt a lot of grammar but who cannot use a language is in the position of a pianist who has learnt a lot about harmony but cannot play the piano. The student's command of a language will therefore be judged not by how much he knows, but how well he can perform in public.

In order to become a skilled performer, the student must become proficient at using the units of a language. And the unit of a language is not, as was once commonly supposed, the word, but the sentence. Learning words irrespective of their function can be a waste of time, for not all words are equal. We must draw a distinction between structural words and lexical items. Words like I, you, he etc. are structural. Their use can be closely defined; they are part of a grammatical system. Words like tree, plant, flower etc. are purely lexical items and in no way part of a grammatical system. From the learner's point of view, skill in handling structural words is the key to mastering a language, for the meaning that is conveyed in sentence—patterns depends largely on the function of the structural words that hold them together.

It is possible, though this has yet to be proved scientifically, that every student of a foreign language has what might be called a 'language ceiling', a point beyond which he cannot improve very much. If we accept this supposition, our aim must be to enable every student to learn as much as he is capable of learning in the most efficient way. The old—fashioned translation and grammar—rule methods are extremely wasteful and inefficient, for the student is actually encouraged to make mistakes; he is asked to perform skills before he is adequately prepared. Teachers who use such methods unwittingly create the very problems they seek to avoid. At some point in the course their students inevitably become incapable of going on; they have to go back. They have become remedial students and the teacher is faced with the problem of remedying what has been incorrectly learnt. No approach could be more ineffective, wasteful and inefficient.

The student should be trained to learn by making as few mistakes as possible. He should never be required to do anything which is beyond his capacity. A well—designed course is one which takes into account what might be called the student's 'state of readiness': the point where he can proceed from easy to difficult. If the student is to make the most of his abilities, he must be trained to adopt correct learning habits.

What has to be Learnt?

The student must be trained adequately in all four basic language skills; understanding, speaking, reading and writing. In many classroom courses the emphasis is wholly on the written language. The student is trained to use his eyes instead of his ears and his inability to achieve anything like correct pronunciation, stress and intonation must be attributed largely to the tyranny of the printed word. If the teacher is to train his students in all four skills, he must make efficient use of the time at his disposal. Efficiency presupposes the adoption of classroom procedures which will yield the best results in the quickest possible time. The following order of presentation must be taken as axiomatic:

Nothing should be spoken before it has been heard.

Nothing should be read before it has been spoken.

Nothing should be written before it has been read.

Speaking and writing are the most important of these skills, since to some extent they presuppose the other two.

Learning to Speak

The traditional 'conversation lesson' is of no value at all if the student is not ready for it. It is impossible for any student at the post — elementary level to take part in discussions on topics like 'The Cinema Today', for his ideas quite out — strip his capacity for expressing them. The student must first be trained to use patterns in carefully graded aural/oral drills. Only in this way will he finally learn to speak.

Before considering how this can be done, it should be noted that the patterns in a language fall into two distinct categories : progressive and static. For instance, learning how to answer and to ask questions involves the use of progressive patterns. They are progressive because the student's skill in handling these complex forms must be developed over a long period, beginning with a simple response like 'Yes, it is' and culminating in complex responses like 'Yes, I should, shouldn't I'. A static pattern, on the other hand, like the comparison of adjectives can be taught in a limited number of lessons, not over a long period.

Progressive patterns should be practised through comprehension exercises which require the student to answer and to ask questions which become increasingly complex as the course proceeds. The student should be trained to give tag answers ; make negative and affirmative statements to answer double questions joined by or ; answer general questions which begin with question — words like When, Where, How etc. ; and at each stage, the student should be trained to ask questions himself. It is obvious that these skills cannot be dealt with in one or two lessons : the student requires practice of this kind in every lesson.

At the same time, static patterns should be practised by means of drills which make use of language—laboratory techniques. In each of these drills, the teacher seeks to elicit a particular kind of response. He provides the student with a stimulus to elicit the new pattern in a series of oral drills until the student is able to respond accurately and automatically.

Students may also be trained to speak through oral composition exercises where they are required to reproduce orally a passage of English they are familiar with. At the outset, the student should practise reproducing narrative and descriptive pieces. At a much later stage, he will practise reproducing the substance of an argument. When he can do this well, he will be in a position to converse on set topics which deal with abstract ideas. By this time he will be able to express himself with confidence and will make relatively few mistakes.

The techniques used in speech training at the pre—intermediate level may be summarized as follows:

Drilling in progressive patterns.

Drilling in static patterns.

Practice in oral composition.

Learning to Write

The same sort of careful grading is required when we attempt to teach students to write. We must again begin with the simplest form of statement. Students are all too often plunged into composition work long before they are ready for it. At some point in a course, the teacher may decide that it is time his students attempted to write a composition, so he sets a short narrative or descriptive piece and hopes for the best. This is a random, hit—or—miss method which creates enormous remedial problems and produces disastrous results. If a student's sole experience of written English has been to fill in blank spaces in tailor—made sentences, it is wildly unreasonable to spring a composition subject on him and then expect him to produce correct and readable prose. As with premature discussions on set topics, all we are doing is to encourage him to make mistakes. And it is no good hoping that after a few years of this (involving massive correction on the part of the teacher) the student will somehow improve on his own. Very few students are sufficiently conscientious or highly motivated to examine in detail their own corrected written work. Even if they did, there is absolutely no guarantee that they will not go on making the same mistakes. Writing skill can best be developed through carefully controlled and graded comprehension/précis exercises. Précis writing is not a sterile academic exercise useful only for examination purposes. It can be used effectively to develop a student's writing ability. At the pre—intermediate stage, the student must learn how to write simple, compound, and complex sentences and to connect ideas from notes. Controlled précis writing will enable the student to master each of these difficulties and bring him to a point where he will be capable of writing a composition with a minimum of error.

The main stages in training the student in the written language at the pre—intermediate level may be summarized as follows:

Practice in writing simple sentences through controlled comprehension/précis exercises.

Practice in writing compound sentences through controlled com—prehension/précis exercises.

Practice in writing complex sentences through controlled comprehension/précis exercises.

Practice in connecting ideas from notes that have been provided.

The Teaching of Grammar

In traditional textbooks, all information about sentence patterns is presented in the form of 'rules' which the student applies in a series of disconnected sentences by filling in blank spaces, or by giving the correct form of words in brackets. It has become abundantly clear that this approach to language-learning is highly ineffective. It encourages the teacher to talk about the language, instead of training his students to use it. The emphasis is on written exercises. The greatest weakness in this approach is that the student cannot transfer what he has learnt from abstract exercises of this kind to other language skills like understanding, speaking and creative writing.

A new pattern should not be presented as the exemplification of some abstract grammar-rule, but as a way of saying something. No further explanation or elucidation is necessary. The student is trained to use correct forms automatically, rather than by applying 'grammar logic'. Where explanation is necessary, it can be done by relating a new pattern to one that has already been learnt. If, for instance, the student has learnt the use of 'must', he can be taught the use of 'have to' by being made to see a meaningful relationship between the two.

Students working at the pre-intermediate level may be given exercises in recall, that is, relating language difficulties to a particular context they know well. In this way they will be trained to use correct forms instinctively. The teacher is, incidentally, saved the trouble of correcting exercises, since, for the most part, the passages do this for him.

Traditional filling—in—the—blank exercises still have a place in a modern course, but with one important difference: they should not be used as a means of teaching new patterns, but as a means of consolidating what has been learnt. They are an end, not a means to an end. In this respect, they are extremely useful in tests and can be employed for diagnostic purposes or to enable the teacher to assess terminal behaviour.

The Multi—Purpose Text

In order to do all the exercises outlined above, the student must work from specially—written texts. Each text must be used to train the student in the following skills:

Aural comprehension.

Oral practice (progressive and static patterns).

Reading aloud.

Oral composition.

Dictation.

Controlled comprehension, précis and composition practice (simple, compound and complex sentences).

Written grammar exercises in recall.

We might call these specially—written passages multi—purpose texts, since they are used as the basis for a variety of exercises which aim at developing a number of skills simultaneously.

If these texts are to be suitable for so many purposes, they must be specially devised. The new patterns that are to be taught must be contextualized, that is, they must be built into each text. These reiterated patterns should be unobtrusive; their use should strike the listener as being inevitable rather than artificially superimposed. There is also another very important requirement: the texts must be interesting or amusing so that they will entertain the student, hold his attention, and minimize the inevitable drudgery involved in drill work. If the texts are accompanied by illustrations, they will be even more appealing. At the beginner's level, illustrations are more functional than decorative. At this level, the reverse is true: the pre — intermediate stage marks a transition from audiovisual techniques to audio — lingual ones.

Speed and Intensity

Traditional courses are often divided into 'lessons', but these 'lessons' do not take into account what can be done in an average teaching period of forty — five minutes or an hour. They simply consist of 'an amount of information' and may run on for a great many pages. In the classroom, one of these 'lessons' might drag on for weeks because so much has to be done.

A lesson must be precisely what the word implies: an amount of material that can reasonably be covered in a teaching period, possibly with additional material which can be done as homework. In other words, a lesson must be considered as a unit of instruction and no more. Now it is extremely difficult for the course designer to decide what can be done in an average period. Obviously a class of bright students will cover more ground than a class of less able ones. This problem can be overcome if the lesson contains material which can be omitted at the discretion of the teacher, providing that these omissions do not hamper the students' progress.

Levels

For purely practical purposes, students attending language schools have to be classified in terms of knowledge and achievement. It might be worth noting that a full-scale course would resolve itself into three parts, each of which would consist of two stages:

Stage 1: Pre—elementary level.

Elementary level.

Stage 2: Pre—intermediate level.

Intermediate level.

Stage 3: Pre—advanced level.

Advanced level.

About this Course

From Theory to Practice: Basic Aims

This course attempts to put into practice all the theories about language learning outlined above. Briefly, the aims may be stated as follows:

1. To provide a comprehensive course for post—elementary adult or secondary students. The course contains sufficient material for about one and a half academic years' work. It is assumed that the student will receive about four hours' instruction each week i. e. four one—hour lessons on four separate occasions, or two 'double periods' each consisting of two hours or ninety minutes. If we take the academic year to consist of thirty—six weeks, there will be sufficient material in this course for fifty—four weeks' work. The student will receive most of his training in the classroom and will be required to do a little extra work in his own time.

2. To train the student in all four skills : understanding , speaking , reading , and writing —in that order. In this respect , the course sets out to do two things : to provide material which will be suitable for aural/oral practice and which can at the same time be used to train the student systematically to write English.

3. To provide the student with a book which will enable him to use the language.

4. To provide the teacher with well—co—ordinated and graded material which will enable him to conduct each lesson with a minimum of preparation. As many of the exercises are ‘self—correcting’ , the teacher will , incidentally , be relieved of the arduous task of correcting a great many written exercises.

5. To enable the teacher and the student to work entirely from a single volume without the need for additional ‘practice books’.

6. To prepare the ground for students who might , at some future date , wish to sit for academic examinations like the Cambridge Lower Certificate. This aim must be regarded as coincidental to the main purpose of training students in the four language skills.

7. To provide the teacher with recorded material which can be used in the classroom and language—laboratory. It must be emphasized , however , that this is in no way a full—scale language - laboratory course. It is essentially a classroom course , designed primarily for teachers who have no access to a language laboratory. The recorded drills are only intended for teachers who make use of a language—laboratory at regular or irregular intervals to supplement work done in the classroom.

For Whom the Course Intended

This course should be found suitable for :

1. Adult or secondary students who have completed First Things First: An Integrated Course for Beginners, or who have completed any other elementary course.
2. Students in need of remedial work; e. g. students who did English at school and now wish to take it up again; students who have begun English several times and never got beyond the point of no return.
3. Schools and Language Institutes where 'wastage' caused by irregular attendance and late starters is a problem. The course is so designed that it will enable hard—pressed or erratic students to catch up on work they have missed.
4. Post—elementary students who wish to study on their own.

How Much Knowledge has been Assumed?

The material in First Things First, the beginners' course which precedes this one, has been designed to 'overlap' this course. Students who have completed it will have no difficulty whatever in continuing where they left off.

Students who have learnt English from other elementary courses and now wish to continue their studies with this course should have a fair working knowledge of the structures listed below. The list may look formidable, but close inspection will reveal that there is nothing in it that would not be found in the average elementary course. In any case, most of the knowledge that has been assumed is revised in the course itself.

It should be noted that a distinction has been drawn in the list between active and passive knowledge. A student has active command of a pattern if he can use it in speech or writing. He has passive command of a pattern if he can understand it when he hears or reads it, but is, as yet, incapable of using it. In the list below, this distinction is drawn by the following designations; ability to recognize and to form (active knowledge); ability to recognize (passive knowledge).

Assumed Knowledge

1. Elementary uses of the verbs be and have in the present and past.
2. The present Continuous; ability to recognize and to form.
3. The Simple Present; ability to recognize; to form with s, es, or ies in the third person.
4. The Simple Past; ability to recognize and to form with common regular and irregular verbs.
5. The Past Continuous; ability to recognize.
6. The Present Perfect (Simple); ability to recognize.
7. The Past Perfect; ability to recognize.
8. The Future; ability to recognize and to form with going to, shall and will.
9. Auxiliary Verbs; elementary uses of can, may, and must. The ability to recognize the forms could, might and would.
10. The ability to form questions and negatives with auxiliary verbs including do/does and did. The use of interrogative pronouns and adverbs.
11. The ability to answer questions beginning with auxiliary verbs and question words.

12. Adverbs :ability to form with -ly and -ily. The ability to recognize exceptions like well,hard and fast.
13. Articles ; definite and indefinite. Elementary uses of a/an and the. The use of some, any, no, much, many, a lot of with countable and uncountable nouns.
14. Nouns ;the ability to form the plural with -s, -es, -ves; common irregular plurals : men, women, children,teeth etc.
15. Pronouns ; personal,possessive, reflexive. Apostrophe 's'.
16. Adjectives ; elementary uses. Regular comparison; irregular comparison :good, bad, much/many and little.
17. Prepositions ; the use of common prepositions of place,time and direction.
18. Relative Pronouns ; the ability to recognize and to use who/whom, which and that.

Miscellaneous Features

19. This/that; these/those.
20. Elided forms ; it's, I'm, isn't, didn't, etc.
21. There is/it is; there are/they are.
22. The imperative.
23. The days of the week, dates, seasons, numbers, points of time (today, yesterday, tomorrow, etc.).
24. Telling the time.

The Components of the Course

The course consists of the following:

- One text—book (to be used by teachers and students).
- Four $4\frac{1}{4}$ in. (11 cm.) long—playing tapes (length: 600 feet), recorded at $3\frac{3}{4}$ i. p. s. (9.5 cm. p. s.), on which the multi—purpose texts have been recorded.

Eight 5 in. (13 cm.)long — playing tapes (length : 900 feet) , recored at $3\frac{3}{4}$ i. p. s. (9.5 cm. p. s.), on which drills have been recorded.

- Recorded drills : Tapescript.
- Supplementary written exercises : Multiple choice.

A Description of the Course

General Arrangement of Material

This course is divided into four Units each of which is preceded by a searching test. Each Unit consists of twenty—four passages which become longer and more complex as the course progresses. Detailed instructions to the student , together with worked examples , precede each Unit.

The passages are multi—purpose texts. Each passage will be used to train the student in the following : aural comprehension ; oral practice (progressive and static patterns) ; reading aloud ; oral composition ; dictation ; controlled comprehension , précis , and composition practice (simple , compound and complex sentences) ; written grammar exercises in recall.

Instructions and Worked Examples

These precede each Unit and should be read very carefully. The successful completion of this course depends entirely on the student's ability to carry out the instructions given.

Pre—unit Tests

A searching test , based on material already studied , precedes each

Unit. This will make it possible for students to find their own level and enable them to begin at any point in the book. At the same time, the student who works through the course systematically from beginning to end is not expected to make too sudden a jump between Units. The tests should enable the teacher to assess how much the students have learnt. If they are found to be too long, they should be divided into manageable compartments.

The Passages

An attempt has been made to provide the student with passages which are as interesting and as varied in subject — matter as possible. Each passage contains examples of the language patterns the student is expected to master. It will also be used as the basis for all aural/oral and written work. The approximate length of the passages in each Unit is as follows:

Unit 1: 100 words.

Unit 2: 140 words.

Unit 3: 160 words.

Unit 4: 180 words.

Oral Exercises

Oral exercises are not included in the book itself and must be supplied by the teacher. They may be along the lines suggested in the section on How to Use this Course.

Comprehension and Précis

The aim has been to train the student to make statements which are based directly on the passages he has read. The student is required to derive specific information from each passage (comprehension) which he will put together to form a paragraph (précis). The amount of help he is given to do this gradually diminishes. In these exercises, the student will incidentally gain a great deal of experience in coping with one of the biggest difficulties in English: word order. Here is a brief outline of what is required in each Unit:

Unit 1: The passages contain mainly compound sentences. The comprehension questions have been designed to elicit simple statements which will be put together to form a précis and composition.

Unit 2: The passages contain mainly complex sentences (though not necessarily difficult ones) and the comprehension questions are designed to elicit simple and compound statements. These will be put together to form a précis of the passage.

Unit 3: The comprehension questions are designed to elicit simple, compound and complex statements. These will be put together to form a précis.

Unit 4: The student will practise writing all three types of statement by using connecting words to join ideas. The ideas are derived from each passage and will be joined together to form a précis.

Composition

Composition exercises, which are introduced in Unit 2, run closely parallel to work that is being done in comprehension and précis. From Unit 3 onwards, these exercises are based on ideas suggested by the passages. This will relieve the student of the added burden of having to find something to say when he is struggling to express himself. The arrangement is as follows:

Unit 2: Exercises in writing compound statements.
a passages 25—36: selecting correct verbs and joining words.
b passages 37—48: joining simple statements to make compound statements.

Unit 3: Alternating exercises.

a Joining ideas to make compound or complex statements.

b Joining simple statements to make compound or complex statements.

Unit 4: Joining ideas to write two short paragraphs (a total of about 150 words).

Letter—writing

Work in letter—writing is begun in Unit 2 and difficulties concerning layout and subject—matter are introduced gradually. This course deals with personal letters only. The exercises have been graded as follows:

Unit 2: The Heading.

Unit 3: The Salutation and the opening paragraph.

Unit 4: The Body, the Subscription, the Signature and the postscript.

Key Structures and Special Difficulties

A distinction has been drawn between absolutely essential grammar (Key Structures) and difficulties in usage (Special Difficulties). No attempt has been made to deal with every aspect of grammar. All information about Key Structures and Special Difficulties is derived directly from each passage. Grammatical terminology has not been used at all. New items are presented in the form of sentence patterns. Where explanations are necessary, this has been done by relating a new pattern to one which the student already knows and by providing numerous examples, not by abstract description and 'grammar rules'.

Filling—in—the—blank exercises are given to consolidate what the student has already learnt and practised orally. They cannot be used to teach new patterns. There are also numerous exercises in recall where the student is required to relate language difficulties to a passage he knows well. These grammar exercises are presented as part of a real context, not in disconnected sentences. By referring to the passage, the student can find out immediately whether he has grasped the new patterns. The teacher is also saved the trouble of correcting exercises of this type, since, for the most part, the passages do this for him.

The way the Key Structures have been arranged is one of the most important features of this course. The Key Structures have been presented in what might be called 'concentric cycles', the basic idea being that no new concept should be introduced without reference to what has been learnt so far. This concentric arrangement makes provision for constant revision of the most difficult sentence patterns. The following outline will make this clear:

Unit 1 (Passages 1—24): Key Structures are dealt with at an elementary level.

Unit 2 (Passages 25—48): Exactly the same ground is covered at a slightly more difficult level.

Unit 3 (Passages 49—72): The same ground is covered yet again at a still more difficult level.

Unit 4 (Passages 73—96): The Key Structures are revised.

Cross—references

Cross—references have been included to enable the student to refer to material he has already learnt and to draw useful comparisons. In the text, crossreferences are in heavy type and are indicated in the following manner:

a KS(=KEY STRUCTURE). These letters are followed by a page number and sometimes a paragraph reference; e. g. KS 47 b.

b SD(=SPECIAL DIFFICULTY). These letters are also followed by a page number and sometimes a paragraph reference; e. g. SD 52 c.

The Tapes

Two sets of tapes accompany the course for use in the classroom and the language laboratory.

(a) Four $4\frac{1}{4}$ in. (11 cm.) long—playing tapes.

On these, the ninety—six multi—purpose texts have been recorded at slightly less than normal speed (120 words per minute). These tapes are intended for use in the classroom when the teacher is carrying out the aural/oral procedure suggested for each lesson. The recorded passages may therefore be used for aural comprehension and repetition work. The teacher may, however, choose to work without these tapes if he wishes—in which case he will have to read the contextualized pieces himself.

(b) Eight 5 in. (13 cm.) long—playing tapes.

On these, selected drills have been recorded for use in the classroom and language laboratory. There are ninety—six drills in all, each of which lasts approximately for $3\frac{1}{2}$ minutes. They are intended for teachers who have access to a language laboratory and who make use of it at regular or irregular intervals. It is essential to introduce the drills in the classroom before they are practised in the laboratory.

The drills are four—phase: stimulus/response/correct response/repetition. They are based entirely on the Key Structures and Special Difficulties introduced in each lesson. The vocabulary used in the drills is drawn from the course itself.

The drills have been published in a separate book which is available to teachers. Detailed information about the drills and suggestions on how they may be used will be found in the introduction to this publication.

Vocabulary Range

Structures permitting, the vocabulary in Units 1 and 2 is based largely on the General Service List of English Words, compiled and edited by Dr Michael West. From then on, the range is unrestricted—within, of course, reasonable limits, and gradually becomes more difficult.

How to Use this Course

TEACHERS! PLEASE READ THIS INTRODUCTION CAREFULLY!

Allocation of Time

Ideally, two classroom lessons of approximately 50 minutes each should be spent on each text. The first lesson should be devoted to Guided Conversation; the second to Composition and Language Study. This means that there is enough material in this book for approximately 200 lessons (including tests). However, you may choose to spend only one classroom lesson on each text—in which case, every lesson may be devoted to Guided Conversation and a selection of written exercises may be set as homework. Your first task is to decide how much time you have in your programme in relation to the material available in the course.

The suggestions given below outline the basic steps in each lesson. You may decide to follow them closely, adapt them to suit your style of teaching, or reject them altogether — BUT PLEASE READ THEM FIRST!

Lesson 1: Guided Conversation

Books Required:

Practice and Progress (for teachers and students)
Recorded Drills Tapescript (for teachers only)

The Stages of the Lesson

1 Aural/Oral Presentation :	about 15 minutes
2 Question and Answer Practice :	about 10 minutes
3 Pattern Drill :	about 5 minutes
4 Oral Reconstruction :	about 10 minutes
5 Talking Points , Singing , Games , Story—telling , etc :	about 10 minutes

Let's see what each step involves :

1. Aural/Oral Presentation :

a Listening (Books shut)

b Intensive Reading (Books open)

c Listening (Books shut)

d Chorus , Group and Individual Repetition (Books shut) (This step is optional.)

e Reading Aloud ; Chorus , Group or Individual (Books open)

a Listening (Books shut). Play the recording or read th passage once. The students should listen and try to understand as much as they can.

b Intensive Reading (Books open). Read the text in small units (e. g. a sentence at a time, or less) making sure the students really understand it. Rather than give direct explanations , try to get as much information as possible from the studunts. (Think of it as 'a cork - screw operation' !) Explanations should be given entirely in English , but don't carry direct - method teaching to absurd lengths. If your students fail to understand in spite of all your efforts , translate briefly and move on. Remember , if you don' t translate a particular difficulty , then someone in the calss will!

c Listening (Books shut). Play the recording or read the passage once more.

d Chorus, Group and Individual Repetition (Books shut). These are optional activities at this level, and in any case should be confined to (say) Unit 1 only (the first 24 texts). If you conduct repetition exercises, first ask the whole class to repeat the text after you. Next divide the class into three groups and repeat the text once more. Finally, ask individual students round the class to repeat the text.

e Reading Aloud: Chorus, Group or Individual (Books open). How you conduct this depends on the size of the class. If it is a very large class, chorus and group reading is appropriate; if it is a small class (up to 20 students) individual reading may be more suitable.

The entire Aural /Oral Presentation should not occupy more than about 15 minutes. DON'T SPEND TOO MUCH TIME ON ANY ONE ACTIVITY!

2. Question and answer Practice:

Question and answer practice should be based mainly on the text. However, you may vary this with questions which relate to the student's own experience. If you find it difficult to ask questions spontaneously, prepare yourself in advance. Five types of exercise are suggested, but this is by no means a rigid pattern. Questions should be asked individually round the class — preferably at speed. About half a dozen questions relating to each type should be sufficient. The five types are as follows:

a Yes/ No Tag Answers

b Questions with Who

c Negative and Affirmative Statements

d General Questions: When, Where, Why, How, etc.

e Asking Questions in pairs

a Yes/No Tag Answers. Train the students to listen to the first word in your questions and to use the same word (where applicable) in their answers. (All examples are based on Text 4.)

Teacher: Have you received a letter from your sister?

Student: No, I haven't.

Teacher: Have you received a letter from your brother?

Student: Yes, I have. etc.

b Questions with Who. Train the students to supply the correct auxiliary verbs in their answers. Note that Who...? is only used as a subject.

Teacher: Who's received a letter?

Student: I have. etc.

c Negative and Affirmative Statements. Train the student to make negative and affirmative statements by asking double questions joined by or.

Teacher: Have you received a letter from your brother or your sister?

Student: I haven't received a letter from my sister. I've received one from my brother. etc.

d General Questions: When, Where, Why, How, etc. Train the student to provide natural answers to general comprehension questions.

Teacher: Who've you received a letter from?

Student: My brother. etc. (Not: I have received a letter from my brother.)

e Asking Questions in Pairs. In order to understand the function of question words well, the student should be trained to ask questions in pairs. In this way he will learn that the addition of a question word in no way affects the form of the question. Intensive training of this sort prevents the student from using incorrect forms like 'Where he went?' etc. The student first asks a question using an auxiliary verb. Then he asks precisely the same question preceding it with a question word.

Teacher: Ask me if I've received a letter from my brother.

Student: Have you received a letter from your brother?

Teacher: Who... (Always provide the question word.)

Student: Who have you received a letter from? etc.

3. Pattern Drill:

Drill the main language point which has been introduced in the text. Use the publication entitled Practice and Progress, Recorded Drills: Tapescript for this purpose. Here, for instance, is part of the drill which relates to Text 4:

Teacher: Have your breakfast.

Student: I've already had my breakfast.

Teacher: Tell him to leave.

Teacher: Tell her to comb her hair.

Student: She's already combed her hair. etc.

The students may be trained to answer in chorus or groups, or the drill may be conducted a number of times rapidly round the class with individual students responding. If a language — laboratory is available, this will be adequate preparation for further practice. However, it must be stressed that a laboratory is by no means indispensable; it is quite possible to do all the drilling live in the classroom. Alternatively, teachers who have tape — recorders may choose to play the taped drills in class.

4. Oral Reconstruction :

Write a number of brief notes (‘key words’) on the blackboard summarizing the subject—matter of the text. Now invite individual pupils to reconstruct the text by referring to the notes. The students should be encouraged to speak without interruption for up to a minute at a time and should try to use as many as possible of the expressions, structures etc. of the original story. Here, for instance, are some notes which relate to Text 4:

- 1 Letter—brother—Tim.
- 2 In Australia.
- 3 Been there—six months.
- 4 Engineer.
- 5 Big firm—visited different places.
- 6 Bought—Australian car—
- 7 Visit Darwin.
- 8 From there—Perth.
- 9 Never before—trip—exciting.

5. Talking Points, Singing, Games, Story—telling, etc.

The final part of the Guided Conversation Lessons should be devoted to free conversation. Where the text immediately suggests a subject or subjects for general discussion, individual students should be invited to speak in promptu. Here, for instance, are a few talking points suggested by Text 4:

- a Do you know anyone abroad? What can you tell me about him/her?
- b What do you think (Australia) is like?
- c Which country would you like to visit and why?
- d Tell me about your job.

Obviously, not all texts provide suitable material for conversation. Where a general discussion is not possible, the lesson may end with any one of the following activities :

a Singing: Teach the class traditional or modern British and American songs. Any good song book may be used for this purpose. For instance :

Lee and Dodderidge: Time for a Song (Longman)

Dakin: Songs and Rhymes for the Teaching of English (Longman)

b Games: Well-known parlour games like 'Twenty Questions' are always popular with students. A book like Language—Teaching Games and Contests by W. R Lee (O. U. P.) is full of excellent ideas.

c Story—telling: You may occasionally read a story to the class—providing it is roughly within the students' structural/lexical range. Many of the titles in the series Pleasant Books in Easy English Stages 1—4 (Longman) are suitable for this purpose.

Lesson 2: Composition and Language Study

As has already been indicated, this entire lesson may be omitted and a selection of written exercises may, instead, be set as homework. If this approach is adopted, then the Précis and Composition exercises must always be set. Needless to say, more satisfactory results will be obtained where a complete classroom lesson can be devoted to written exercises.

Books Required:

Practice and Progress (for teachers and students)

Supplementary Written Exercises (for teachers and students)

The Stages of the Lesson

- 1 Comprehension/Précis/Composition/Letter—writing
- 2 Key Structures
- 3 Exercises
- 4 Special Difficulties
- 5 Exercises
- 6 Dictation
- 7 Multiple Choice Questions

No specific suggestions are made regarding the amount of time to be spent on each part of the lesson as this will be found to vary greatly.

1. Comprehension/Précis/Composition/Letter—writing

These exercises must never be omitted as they are part of a carefully planned guided summary and composition scheme which evolves progressively through Practice and Progress and Developing Skills.

As The exercises are largely self—correcting, it will be sufficient to check that they have been done. Go round the class while the students are writing and help individuals.

2. Key Structures

This part of the lesson should be devoted to a brief explanation of the main grammar points that were presented in the text. Gram—matical information should be considered a means to an end, not an end in itself. Technical terms have been deliberately excluded; it has been left to the teacher to decide how to present the grammar. This, in turn, will depend wholly on the class. In the case of students who are familiar with the grammar of their own language, there is no reason why the teacher should not make use of technical terms. In the case of students who are wholly unfamiliar with grammatical concepts, no technical terms should be used at all. The aim behind all the explanation should be to reinforce theoretically what the student has already practised orally. It is best to avoid sweeping 'rules' and to confine the study of grammar to the points presented. Additional information can be obtained from any standard textbook: e. g W. S Allen; Living English Structure (Longman).

3. Exercises

These should be tackled in writing. They will provide further reinforcement of the grammar that has just been presented.

4. Special Difficulties

A brief explanation regarding the special lexical/structural difficulties should now be given. Where appropriate, you may draw a brief contrast between the problem presented in the text and a similar problem in the mother tongue.

5. Exercises

These should now be tackled in writing to reinforce what has been taught.

6. Dictation

Depending on the amount of time available, dictations should be given frequently. A few sentences taken from a passage the students have already studied may be dictated. The students may correct their own work by comparing their version with the passage.

7. Multiple Choice Exercises

These will be found in the separate publication, Supplementary Written Exercises, and may be tackled in class or as homework.

Home work

The written exercises become more demanding and time-consuming as the student progresses through the course. At a later stage, exercises which have not been completed in class may be set as homework.

Pre—Unit Tests

These should always be set before the students move on to a new Unit.

Additional Reading Material

It is essential for the students to read as much as possible in their own time. Students only find reading an irksome task when they attempt to read books which are too difficult for them. The books the students should read must be simplified and well within their range. Longman Structural Readers series is recommended for this purpose. A set of readers may accompany each of the Units in this book:

A. Look at this example:

I am tired.

He is tired.

Write these sentences again. Begin each sentence with He.

1. I am busy.
2. I am learning English.
3. I have a new book.
4. I live in the country.
5. I shall see you tomorrow.
6. I can understand you.
7. I must write a letter.
8. I may come next week.
9. I do a lot of work every day.
10. I did a lot of work yesterday.
11. I played football yesterday.
12. I bought a new coat last week.
13. I have had a letter from Tom.
14. I was busy this morning.
15. I could play football very well when I was younger.
16. I always try to get up early.
17. I might see you next week.
18. I always enjoy a good film.
19. I had finished my work before you came.
20. I watch television every night.

B. Look at these examples :

I want a biscuit. I want a cup of coffee.
I want some biscuits. I want some coffee.
Do you want any biscuits? Do you want any coffee?
I don't want any biscuits. I don't want any coffee.

Write these sentences again. Put in a, some or any.

1. There are..... books on the desk.
2. I drank..... glass of beer.
3. Do you want..... butter?
4. There aren't..... people in the street.

C. Look at these examples :

I haven't any eggs. I haven't got many eggs.
He hasn't any coffee. He hasn't got much coffee.

Do these in the same way:

1. I haven't any butter.
2. You haven't any cigarettes.
3. We haven't any milk.
4. She hasn't any biscuits.
5. They haven't any stationery.

D. Look at this example:

She goes to town every day. She went to town yesterday.

Do these in the same way:

1. He buys a new car every year. He..... a new car last year.
2. She airs the room every day. She..... it this morning.
3. He often loses his pen. He his pen this morning.
4. He always listens to the news. He..... to the news yesterday.
5. She empties this basket every day. She..... it yesterday.

E. Look at these examples:

He went to the cinema yesterday.

Question: Did he go to the cinema yesterday?

Question: Where did he go yesterday?

Negative: He didn't go to the cinema yesterday.

10. Tom is intelligent, but Bill is.....

Write these sentences again. Use short forms.

1. He will arrive tomorrow morning.

2. She will come this evening.

J. Put in the right word or phrase: yesterday, last night, tomorrow etc.

The date today is Monday, March 5th.

1. I saw him. (Sunday, March 4th)
2. I shall see him. (Tuesday, March 6th)
3. I shall see him. (Monday, March 5th)
4. I shall see him. (Monday, March 5th—afternoon)
5. I shall see him. (Wednesday, March 7th)
6. I saw him. (Saturday, March 3rd)
7. I saw him. (Sunday, March 4th—night)
8. I shall see him. (Tuesday, March 6th—morning)
9. I shall see him. (Monday, March 5th—morning)
10. I saw him. (Sunday, March 4th—afternoon)

K. Put in at, in, or on:

1. He is going to telephone. five o'clock.
2. My birthday is. May 21st.
3. It is always cold. February.
4. My father was there. 1942.
5. He is going to arrive. Tuesday.

L. Put in across, over, between, off, along, in, on, into, out of, or under:

1. The aeroplane is flying. the village.
2. The ship is going. the bridge.
3. The boy is swimming. the river.
4. Two cats are running. the wall.
5. My books are. the shelf.
6. The bottle of milk is the refrigerator.
7. The boy is jumping. the tree.

8. Mary is sitting. her mother and her father.
9. It is 9 o'clock. The children are going. class.
10. It is 4 o'clock. The children are coming. class.

M. Put in Who or Which:

- 1 hat did you buy?
- 2 broke this plate?
- 3 bus did you catch?
- 4 is knocking at the door?
- 5 of the two books do you want?

N. Look at these examples :

She is the girl. She met me yesterday.

She is the girl who met me yesterday.

She is the girl. I met her yesterday.

She is the girl whom I met yesterday.

This is the book. I bought it yesterday.

This is the book which I bought yesterday.

Join these sentences in the same way. Use who, whom or which.

1. This is the car. The mechanic repaired it yesterday.
2. He is the man. I invited him to the party.
3. These are the things. I bought them yesterday.
4. He is the man. He came here last week.
5. He is the policeman. He caught the thieves.
6. She is the nurse. She looked after me.
7. She is the woman. I met her yesterday.
8. I am the person. I wrote to you.
9. They are the people. I saw them yesterday.
10. They are the trees. We cut them down yesterday.

O. Look at this example:

I can see some cups, but I can't see any glasses

Do these in the same way:

1. I can see some spoons, but I can't see any (knife)
2. I can see some hammers, but I can't see any (box)
3. I can see some cupboards, but I can't see any. . . . (shelf)
4. I can see Mr Jones and Mr Brown, but I can't see their. . .
(wife)
5. I can see some cups, but I can't see any. (dish)

P. Read this story carefully:

Last week, I took my four-year-old daughter, Sally, to a children's party. We travelled by train. Sally has never travelled by train before. She sat near the window and asked a lot of questions. Suddenly, a middle-aged lady came into our compartment and sat opposite Sally. 'Hullo, little girl,' she said. Sally did not answer, but looked at her curiously. The lady took out her powder compact. She then began to make up her face.

'Why are you doing that' Sally asked.

'To make myself beautiful,' the lady answered. She put away her compact and smiled kindly.

'But you are still ugly,' Sally said.

Now write answers to these questions.

1. Did you take Sally to the park?
2. Did you take Sally to a children's party?
3. Where did Sally sit?
4. Who came into your compartment?
5. Was the lady young or was she middle-aged:

6. Where did the lady sit?
7. Did she say 'Hullo' to Sally, or did Sally say 'Hullo' to her?
8. Why did the lady make up her face?
9. Did Sally think the lady was beautiful?
10. What did Sally say to the lady?

F. Read this story carefully.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT

Comprehension Pieces and Composition

Pieces is a test of your ability to find the important points in a piece of writing and to put them together. To write a piece, you must be able to do two things. You must be able to understand what you read, and to put ideas together. Comprehension is a test of your ability to understand what you read. Composition is a test of your ability to put ideas together. In pieces, comprehension and composition are closely related to each other.

Unit I

Unit I contains twenty-four pieces. There are some questions under each piece. Your answers to these questions will be in short, simple sentences. Put your answers together. In this way, you will make a short paragraph. Your paragraph will be a piece of the piece. At the same time, it will be a composition.

Before you begin each exercise, read these instructions carefully. Read them each time you begin a new piece. They are very important.

How to work

1. Read the piece carefully two or three times. Make sure you understand it.
2. Write an answer to each question. Each answer must be a complete sentence.
3. Your answers to the questions must follow each other. Together, they will make a complete paragraph.
4. Read through your work and correct your mistakes.
5. Count the number of words in your paragraph. Words like "the", "a", etc. count as single words. Words which are joined by a

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Précis is a test of your ability to find the important points in a piece of writing and to put them together. To write a précis, you must be able to do two things. You must be able to understand what you read, and to put ideas together. Comprehension is a test of your ability to understand what you read. Composition is a test of your ability to put ideas together. So précis, comprehension and composition are closely related to each other.

Unit I contains twenty—four short pieces. There are some questions under each piece. Your answers to these questions will be in short, simple sentences. Put your answers together. In this way, you will make a short paragraph. Your paragraph will be a précis of the piece. At the same time, it will be a composition.

Before you begin each exercise, read these instructions carefully. Read them each time you begin a new piece. They are very important.

How to work

1. Read the piece carefully two or three times. Make sure you understand it.
2. Write an answer to each question. Each answer must be a complete sentence.
3. Your answers to the questions must follow each other. Together, they will make a complete paragraph.
4. Read through your work and correct your mistakes.
5. Count the number of words in your paragraph. Words like 'the,' 'a' etc. count as single words. Words which are joined by a hyphen (e. g. 'living—room') also count as single words. Do not go over the word limit. At the end of your paragraph write the number of words that you have used.

Example

Work through this example carefully and then try to do the exercises in Unit I in the same way.

Granny Forbes

Mrs Forbes was very old and very poor. Everybody in the neighbourhood called her Granny Forbes and tried to help her. Some neighbours came in each day and cooked meals for her. Others came and cleaned her room. There was little furniture in her room. It was small, dark, and almost empty. There was a bed and a table, and there were two chairs. In winter, neighbours sometimes brought coal and lit a fire, but Granny's room was often very cold. Granny lived in poverty all her life. She died at the age of eighty—four. Then neighbours got a big surprise. She left £50,000!

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 50 words.

1. Did Granny Forbes live in poverty all her life or not?
2. Did her neighbours help her, or did her relations help her?
3. Did they cook meals for her every day or not?
4. Did they clean her small, poorly—furnished room or not?
5. Did they sometimes light a fire for her in winter or not?
6. Did Granny Forbes die at the age of eighty—one, or did she die at the age of eighty—four?

7. Did everyone get a surprise or not?

8. How much did she leave?

Answer

Granny Forbes lived in poverty all her life. Her neighbours helped her. They cooked meals for her every day. They cleaned her small, poorly—furnished room. They sometimes lit a fire for her in winter. Granny Forbes died at the age of eighty—four. Everyone got a surprise. She left £50,000! (49 words)

Key Structures and Special Difficulties

When you finish the exercise in Comprehension Précis and Composition, go on to the language exercises that follow. The information under the title Key Structures gives you advice about important problems in grammar. The information under the title Special Difficulties gives you advice about particular problems. The twenty—four passages in Unit I will help you to understand these problems and to do the language exercises.

1 A Private Conversation

خۇسۇسى سۆھبەت

Last week I went to the theatre. I had a very good seat. The play was very interesting. I did not enjoy it. A young man and a young woman were sitting behind me. They were talking loudly. I got very angry. I could not hear the actors. I turned round. I looked at the man and the woman angrily. They did not pay any attention. In the end, I could not bear it. I turned round again. 'I can't hear a word!' I said angrily. 'It's none of your business' the young man said rudely.

'This is a private conversation!'

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 55 words.

1. Where did the writer go last week?
2. Did he enjoy the play or not?
3. Who was sitting behind him?
4. Were they talking loudly, or were they talking quietly?
5. Could the writer hear the actors or not?

6. Did he turn round or not?
7. What did he say?
8. Did the young man say, 'The play is not interesting.' or did he say, 'This is a private conversation!'

Key Structures

Word Order in Simple Statements.

a A statement tells us about something. All the sentences in the passage are statements. Each of these statements contains one idea. Each statement tells us about one thing. A statement that tells us about one thing is a simple statement.

b The order of the words in a statement is very important. Look at these two statements. They both contain the same words but they do not mean the same thing:

The policeman arrested the thief.

The thief arrested the policeman.

c A simple statement can have six parts, but it does not always have so many. Study the order of the words in the columns on page 14. Note that column 6 (When?) can be at the beginning or at the end of a statement.

Exercises

A. Rule seven columns on a double sheet of paper. At the top of each column, write the numbers and the words given in the Table. Copy out the rest of the passage. Put the words of each statement in the correct column in the way shown in the Table.

6	1	2	3	4	5	6
When	Who? Which? What?	Action	Who? Which? What?	How?	Where?	When?
Last week	I	went			to the theatre.
	I	had	a very good seat.
	The play	was	very interesting.
	I	did not enjoy	it.
	A young man and a young woman	were sitting			behind me.
	They	were talking		loudly.

B. You will use the seven columns again for this exercise. There is a line under each word or group of words in the statements below. The words are not in the right order. Arrange them correctly in the seven columns. Look at this example:

I last year to America went.

The correct order is; I(who) went (action) to America (where) last year. (when)

Or: Last year I went to America.

1. The film I enjoyed yesterday.
2. The news listened to I carefully.
3. Well the man the piano played.
4. Games played yesterday in their room the children quietly.

5. Quietly the door he opened.
6. Immediately left he.
7. A tree in the corner of the garden he planted.
8. Before lunch the letter in his office quickly he read.
9. This morning a book I from the library borrowed.
10. The soup spoilt the cook.
11. We at home stay on Sundays.
12. There a lot of people are at the bus—stop.
13. The little boy an apple this morning ate greedily in the kitchen.
14. She beautifully draws.
15. Music I like very much.
16. A new school built they in our village last year.
17. The match at four o'clock ended.
18. She a letter from her brother last week received.

It was Sunday. I never get up early on Sundays. I sometimes stay in bed until lunch time. Last Sunday I got up very late. I looked out of the window. It was dark outside. 'What a day!' I thought. 'It's raining again.' Just then, the telephone rang. It was my aunt Lucy. 'I've just arrived by train,' she said. 'I'm coming to see you.'

'But I'm still having breakfast,' I said.

'What are you doing?' she asked.

'I'm having breakfast,' I repeated.

'Dear me,' she said. 'Do you always get up so late? It's one o'clock!'

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 50 words.

1. Does the writer always get up early on Sundays, or does he always get up late?
2. Did he get up early last Sunday, or did he get up late?
3. Who telephoned then?
4. Had she arrived by train, or had she come on foot?
5. Was she coming to see him or not?
6. Did he say, 'I'm still having breakfast', or did he say, 'I am still in bed'?

7. Was his aunt very surprised or not?

8. What was the time?

Key Structures

Now, Often and Always.

Study these statements and questions:

Now

Often and Always

These sentences are from the passage:

It's raining.

I never get up early on Sundays.

I'm coming to see you.

I sometimes stay in bed until lunch time.

I'm still having breakfast.

Do you always get up so late?

What are you doing?

Here are some more sentences:

He is still sleeping.

He rarely gets up before 10 o'clock.

We are enjoying our lunch.

We frequently have lunch at this restaurant.

I am reading in bed.

Do you ever read in bed?

Exercises

A. Write out these two paragraphs again. Give the right form of the words in brackets:

1. I am looking out of my window. I can see some children in the street. The children (play) football. They always (play) football in the street. Now a little boy (kick) the ball. Another boy (run) after him but he cannot catch him.

2. I carried my bags into the hall.
'What you (do)?' my landlady asked.
'I (leave), Mrs Lynch,' I answered.
'Why you (leave)?' she asked. 'You have been here only a week.'

'A week too long, Mrs Lynch,' I said. 'There are too many rules in this house. My friends never (come) to visit me. Dinner is always at seven o'clock, so I frequently (go) to bed hungry. You don't like noise, so I rarely (listen) to the radio. The heating doesn't work, so I always (feel) cold. This is a terrible place for a man like me. Goodbye, Mrs Lynch.'

B. Note the position of the words in italics in these sentences:

My friends never come to visit me.

I frequently go to bed hungry.

I rarely listen to the radio.

I always feel cold.

I never get up early on Sundays.

I sometimes stay in bed until lunch time.

Write these sentences again. Put the words in brackets in the right place:

1. She answers my letters. (rarely)
2. We work after six o'clock. (never)
3. The shops close on Saturday afternoons. (always)
4. Do you go to work by car? (always)

5. Our teacher collects our copybooks. (frequently)
6. We spend our holidays abroad. (sometimes)
7. I buy gramophone records. (often)
8. Do you buy gramophone records? (ever)

Special Difficulties

What a day! (1. 5)

Instead of saying: We can say:

It is a terrible day! What a terrible day!

Or: What a beautiful picture this is!

Exercise

Write these sentences again. Each sentence must begin with What.

1. This is a wonderful garden!
2. This is a surprise!
3. He is causing a lot of trouble!
4. They are wonderful actors!
5. She is a hard—working woman!
6. It is a tall building!
7. It's a terrible film!
8. You are a clever boy!
9. She is a pretty girl!
10. He is a strange fellow!

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 50 words.

1. Do postcards always spoil the writer's holidays or not?
2. Where did he spend his holidays last summer?
3. What did he think about every day?
4. Did he send any cards to his friends or not?
5. How many cards did he buy on the last day?

6. What did he stay all day?
7. Did he write any cards or not?

Key Structures

What happened?

Read this short conversation. Pay close attention to the verbs in italics. Each of these verbs tells us what happened.

POLICEMAN: Did you see the accident, sir?

MAN: Yes, I did. The driver of that car hit that post over there.

POLICEMAN: What happened?

MAN: A dog ran across the road and the driver tried to avoid it. The car suddenly came towards me. It climbed on to the pavement and crashed into that post.

POLICEMAN: What did you do?

MAN: I ran across the street after the dog.

POLICEMAN: Why did you do that? Were you afraid of the car?

MAN: I wasn't afraid of the car. I was afraid of the driver. The driver got out of the car and began shouting at me. He was very angry with me. You see, it was my dog.

Exercises

A. Look at the passage 'Please Send Me A Card'. Put a line under all the verbs which tell us what happened to the writer when he was on holiday in Italy.

B. Give the correct form of all the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

Last summer, I (go) to Italy. I (visit) museums and (sit) in public gardens. A friendly waiter (teach) me a few words of Italian. Then he (lend) me a book. I (read) a few lines, but I (not understand) a word. Every day I (think) about postcards. My holidays (pass) quickly, but I (not send) any cards to my friends. On the last day, I (make) a big decision. I (get) up early and (buy) thirty — seven cards. I (spend) the whole day in my room, but I (not write) a single card!

C. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets in the passage below. Each verb must tell us what happened:

My friend, Roy, (die) last year. He (leave) me his record player and his collection of gramophone records. Roy (spend) a lot of money on records. He (buy) one or two new records every week. He never (go) to the cinema or to the theatre. He (stay) at home every evening and (listen) to music. He often (lend) records to his friends. Sometimes they (keep) them. He (lose) many records in this way.

Special Difficulties

He lent me a book. (1. 5)

Instead of saying:

He lent me a book.

He sent me a card.

He passed me the salt.

She bought me a tie.

She made me a cake.

We can say:

He lent a book to me.

He sent a card to me.

He passed the salt to me.

She bought a tie for me.

She made a cake for me.

Exercise

Write each of the following sentences in a different way:

1. He paid the shop—keeper some money.
2. He handed me the prize.
3. The waiter brought a bottle of beer to the man.
4. He sold all his books to me.
5. The shop—assistant chose some curtain material for me.
6. He did me a big favour.
7. She showed her husband her new hat.
8. She promised a reward to the finder.
9. He gave his son some advice.
10. His uncle left him some money.
11. He is teaching English to us.
12. I bought this bunch of flowers for you.
13. Bring that book to me please.
14. He offered me a cigarette.
15. Read me the first paragraph.
16. I've ordered some soup for you.
17. I owe him a lot of money.
18. Pass the mustard to your father.

4 An Exciting Trip

كشنى ھاياجانغا سالدىغان بىر قېتىملىق ساياھەت

I have just received a letter from my brother, Tim. He is in Australia. He has been there for six months. Tim is an engineer. He is working for a big firm and he has already visited a great number of different places in Australia. He has just bought an Australian car and has gone to Alice Springs, a small town in the centre of Australia. He will soon visit Darwin. From there, he will fly to Perth. My brother has never been abroad before, so he is finding this trip very exciting.

Mr James Scott has a garage in Silbury and now he has just bought another garage in Pinhurst. Pinhurst is only five miles from Silbury, but Mr Scott cannot get a telephone for his new garage, so he has just bought twelve pigeons. Yesterday, a pigeon carried the first message from Pinhurst to Silbury. The bird covered the distance in three minutes. Up to now, Mr Scott has sent a great many requests for spare parts and other urgent messages from one garage to the other. In this way, he has begun his own private 'telephone' service.

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 55 words.

1. Has the writer just moved to a house in Bridge Street or not?
2. Who knocked at her door yesterday?
3. Did he sing songs, or did he ask for money?
4. What did the writer give him in return for this?
5. What is the beggar's name?
6. Does he call at every house once a week or once a month?

Key Structures

A, The and Some

a A and Some

We can say: a pen, some pens; a book, some books; a picture, some pictures; a glass of milk, some milk; a bag of flour, some flour; a bar of soap, some soap. We can also use these words without a or some.

Read these sentences carefully:

Yesterday I bought a book. Books are not very expensive.

I have just drunk a glass of milk. Milk is very refreshing.

Mrs Jones bought a bag of flour, a bag of sugar and some tea.

She always buys flour, sugar and tea at the grocer's.

b A and The

Read this paragraph. Pay close attention to the words a and the.

A man is walking towards me. The man is carrying a parcel. The parcel is full of meat. The man has just bought some meat. A dog is following the man. The dog is looking at the parcel.

c Names

We cannot put a or the in front of names:

John lives in England. He has a house in London. His house is in Duke Street. Last year he went to Madrid. John likes Spain very much. He goes there every summer.

Exercises

A. Write these words again. Put in a or some in front of each one.

meat, desk, tobacco, tin of tobacco, comb, city, cloth, oil, bottle of ink, day, word, student, sugar, rain, orange, rubber.

B. Read the passage again. Put a line under the words a and the.

C. Put in the words a or the where necessary. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

I have just moved to... house in... Bridge Street. Yesterday... beggar knocked at my door. He asked me for... meal and... glass of beer. In return for this,... beggar stood on his head and sang... song. I gave him... meal. He ate... food and drank... beer. Then he put... piece of cheese in his pocket and went away. Later... neighbour told me about him. Everybody knows him. His name is... Percy Buttons. He calls at every house in ... street once ... month and always asks for... meal and... glass of beer.

D. Write sentences using a, the or some with the following:

1. found/coin/garden.
2. put/sugar/my tea.
3. cut/wood/fire.
4. bought/newspaper.
5. made/coffee.
6. like/curtains in this room.

Special Difficulties

Some verbs change in meaning when we put short words after them. Read these sentences. The verbs are in italics. Do you know what these verbs mean?

I put your book on the shelf.

I put on my hat and left the house.

Who took my umbrella?

It was very hot, so I took off my coat.

Come and look at my photograph album.

I am looking for my pen. I lost it this morning.

Will you look after the children for me please?

Read these sentences. Each one contains the verb knock.

The verb has a different meaning in each sentence:

A beggar knocked at my door. (11. 2—3)

I knocked the vase off the table and broke it.

He always knocks off at six o'clock. (He finishes his work.)

The shop—assistant knocked 10% off the bill. (He reduced the price.)

A car knocked the boy over. (It hit him hard and made him fall.)

In the fight, the thief knocked out the policeman. (The policeman was unconscious for three minutes.)

Exercise

A. Put in the right words:

1. He did not know how to fight, but he knocked...the boxer.
2. This flower—pot is broken. Who knocked it...?
3. I knocked...early yesterday and went to a football match.
4. Listen! Someone is knocking...the window!

B. Rewrite the following sentences using the correct form of the verb knock in place of the words in italics:

1. The old lady hit the thief over the head with a candlestick and now he is unconscious.
2. At what time do you finish work every day?
3. The shop—keeper reduced the price of all his goods by 20%.

The plane was late and detectives were waiting at the airport all morning. They were expecting a valuable parcel of diamonds from South Africa. A few hours earlier, someone had told the police that thieves would try to steal the diamonds. When the plane arrived, some of the detectives were waiting inside the main building while others were waiting on the airfield. Two men took the parcel off the plane and carried it into the Customs House. While two detectives were keeping guard at the door, two others opened the parcel. To their surprise, the precious parcel was full of stones and sand!

Two men took the parcel

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 50 words.

1. How long were detectives waiting at the airport?
2. What were they expecting from South Africa?
3. Where did two men take the parcel after the arrival of the plane?

4. How many detectives opened it?
5. What was the parcel full of?

Key Structures

What were you doing when I telephoned?

Study these sentences carefully. Pay close attention to the words in italics.

When I was watering the garden, it began to rain.

I was having breakfast when the telephone rang.

While we were having a party, the lights went out.

George was reading while his wife was listening to the radio.

As I was getting on the bus, I slipped and hurt my foot.

Someone knocked at the door just as I was getting into the bath.

The plane was late and detectives were waiting at the airport all morning.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage which tell us what was happening.

B. What was happening when...?

Read the passage again then answer these questions. Write a complete sentence in answer to each question.

1. What was happening when the plane arrived?
2. What was happening when two of the detectives opened the parcel?

C. Write sentences of your own in answer to these questions.

Each answer must begin with 'I was...'

1. What were you doing when I telephoned you?
2. What were you reading when I saw you in the library this morning?
3. What were you saying when I interrupted you?

D. What was happening? What happened?

Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets:

1. As my father(leave) the house, the postman(arrive).
2. Tom (work) in the garden while I(sit)in the sun.
3. As I(walk) down the street, I(meet) Charlie.
4. While he (read) the letter, he (hear) a knock at the door.
5. While mother (prepare) lunch, Janet(set) the table.
6. She (drop) the tray when I (speak) to her.

Special Difficulties

Two men took the parcel off the plane. (11. 10—11)

Do you remember these sentences? (SD 24)

Come and look at my photograph album.

I am looking for my pen. I lost it this morning.

Will you look after the children for me please?

Now read these sentences:

Instead of saying:

We can say:

He took off his coat.

He took his coat off.

He took it off.

He put out the fire.

He put the fire out.

He put it out.

She put on her hat.

She put her hat on.

She put it on.

Exercise

We can change the position of the words in italics in some of the sentences below. For instance, we can change the position of the word out in this sentence: He put out the fire. But we cannot change the position of the word for in this sentence: He is looking for his pen. Where possible, change the position of the words in italics in the sentences below:

1. He gave away all his books.
2. She woke up the children early this morning.
3. He is looking for his umbrella.
4. They cut off the king's head.
5. Put on your hat and coat.
6. Give it back to your brother.
7. Help me to lift up this table.
8. Take off your shoes and put on your slippers.
9. He is looking at the picture.
10. Send her away or she will cause trouble.
11. They have pulled down the old building.
12. Make up your mind.
13. He asked for permission to leave.
14. She threw away all those old newspapers.

9 A Cold Welcome7

قارشى ئېلىنماسلىق

On Wednesday evening we went to the Town Hall. It was last day of the year and a large crowd of people had gathered under the Town Hall clock. It would strike twelve in twenty minutes' time. Fifteen minutes passed and then, at five to twelve, the clock stopped. The big minute hand did not move. We waited and waited, but nothing happened. Suddenly someone shouted, 'It's two minutes past twelve! The clock has stopped!' I looked at my watch. It was true. The big clock refused to welcome the New Year. At that moment, everybody began to laugh and sing.

10 Not For Jazz

جاز مۇزىكىسىنى چېلىشقا بولمايدىكەن

We have an old musical instrument. It is called a clavichord. It was made in Germany in 1681. Our clavichord is kept in the living — room. It has belonged to our family for a long time. The instrument was bought by my grandfather many years ago. Recently it was damaged by a visitor. She tried to play jazz on it! She struck the keys too hard and two of the strings were broken. My father was shocked. Now we are not allowed to touch it. It is being repaired by a friend of my father's.

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 45 words.

1. Do we own an old clavichord, or do we own a new piano?
2. When was it made?
3. Who bought the instrument many years ago?
4. Who damaged it recently?
5. What did she try to do?
6. What did she break?
7. Who is repairing it now?

Key Structures

It was made in Germany in 1681.

a Read these two questions and answers:

Who built this bridge?

Prisoners of war built this bridge in 1942.

When was this bridge built?

This bridge was built in 1942.

In the first question we want to know who built the bridge.

In the second question we want to learn about the bridge. We can still say who built it. We can say:

This bridge was built by prisoners of war in 1942.

b Now read these pairs of sentences carefully. The first sentence in each pair tells us about a person. (Who) The second tells us about a thing. (What or Which)

Workmen are building a new road outside my house. (Who)

A new road is being built outside my House. (What)

The newsagent delivers our papers every morning. (Who)

Our papers are delivered every morning. (What)

The postman delivered a letter this morning. (Who)

A letter was delivered this morning. (What) c Now read these sentences:

Instead of saying:

The police arrested the thief.

He gave me a present.

The headmaster has punished
the boy.

We can say:

The thief was arrested (by the police).

I was given a present.

The boy has been punished
(by the headmaster).

Exercises

A. Answer these questions on the passage. Write a complete answer to each question:

1. What is our old musical instrument called?

Comprehension Précis and Composition

Answer these questions in not more than 45 words.

1. Whom shall we meet at Portsmouth Harbour early tomorrow morning?
2. Where will he be?
3. At what time will he leave?
4. Shall we say goodbye to him, or shall we travel with him?
5. What will he take part in?

Key Structures

I'll see you tomorrow.

These sentences tell us about the future. Read them carefully.

Note that the word shall is often used with I and We. Pay close attention to the words in italics:

I shall see you tomorrow. I'll see you at 3 o'clock.

We shall travel by air. We'll be at the airport tomorrow morning.

George will be here this evening. He'll come by train.

Alice will meet him at the station. She'll be there at 5 o'clock.

The train will arrive at 4.55. It'll be here soon.

You will miss the train. You'll be late.

They will come here on foot. They'll walk from the station.

Exercises

A. Underline all the verbs in the passage which tell us what will happen.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

Our neighbour, Captain Charles Alison, (sail) from Portsmouth tomorrow. We (meet) him at the harbour early in the morning. He (be) in his small boat, Topsail. Topsail is a famous little boat. It has sailed across the Atlantic many times. Captain Alison (set out) at eight o'clock, so we (have) plenty of time. We (see) his boat and then we (say) goodbye to him. He (be) away for two months. We are very proud of him. He (take part) in an important race across the Atlantic.

C. In the paragraph below, the verbs in italics tell us what happened. Write the passage again. Change the verbs in italics so that they tell us what will happen.

I went to the theatre with my friend Reg. Reg and I saw the first performance of a play called 'The End of the Road'. After the play, the producer gave a short speech. He spoke to the audience about the play. The play was very successful and I think a great many people enjoyed it very much.

D. Put in shall or will:

1. The plane ... arrive in two hours' time.

2. I... wait here until he comes.
3. When... we see you again?
4. I... send you a telegram from Nassau.
5. My secretary... write to you shortly.

Special Difficulties

a Read these sentences. Each sentence contains the verb be.

This verb has a different meaning in each sentence:

He will be away for two months. (ll. 10—11)

I'm going out now. I'll be back at six o'clock.

If anyone telephones, tell them I'll be out all morning.

I went to Ted's house and asked to see him but he wasn't in.

Why don't you forget about it? It's all over. (It has finished.)

What's on at the local cinema this week?

She is very ill. She can't start work yet. She is not up to it. (she is not capable of it.)

b Now look at the verb set in these sentences:

Captain Alison will set out at eight o'clock. (1. 7) (He will start his journey.)

Tom and I set off early in the morning. (We started our journey.)

Jansen set up a new world record for the 400 metres.

Exercise

Replace the words in italics by the correct form of be or set.

1. He has not yet returned. He will return in ten minutes.
2. A new play is being performed at the Globe Theatre.
3. When the concert ended, we went home.
4. They will leave very early tomorrow morning.
5. You can't take the exam yet. You are not capable of it.

6. He will be absent from home for two months.
7. She swam across the English Channel and created a new world record.

14 Do You Speak English?

ئىنگلىزچە سۆزلىيەلەمسىز

I had an amusing experience last year. After I had left a small village in the south of France, I drove on to the next town. On the way, a young man waved to me. I stopped and he asked me for a lift. As soon as he had got into the car, I said good morning to him in French and he replied in the same language.

Apart from a few words, I do not know any French at all. Neither of us spoke during the journey. I had nearly reached the town, when the young man suddenly said, very slowly, 'Do you speak English?' As I soon learnt, he was English himself!

The secretary told me that Mr Harmsworth would see me. I felt very nervous when I went into his office. He did not look up from his desk when I entered. After I had sat down, He said that business was very bad. He told me that the firm could not afford to pay such large salaries. Twenty people had already left. I knew that my turn had come.

'Mr Harmsworth,' I said in a weak voice.

'Don't interrupt,' he said.

Then he smiled and told me I would receive an extra £100 a year!

Exercises

- A. Read the passage again. Put a line under the verbs can, could, may and might.
- B. Use phrases with can, could, may or might in place of the words in italics, Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

'Perhaps the play will begin at any moment,' I said.

'Perhaps it has begun already,' Susan answered.

I hurried to the ticket—office, 'Will you let me have two tickets, please?' I asked.

'I'm sorry, we've sold out,' the girl said.

Just then, a man hurried to the ticket—office.

'Will you let me return these two tickets?' He asked.

I went back to the ticket—office at once. 'Will you let me have those two tickets please?' I asked.

'Certainly,' the girl said, 'but they are for next Wednesday's performance. Do you still want them?'

'Not really, but I'll have them,' I said sadly.

Special Difficulties

Instead of saying:

I am sorry.

We have sold out.

We can say:

I'm sorry. (1. 7)

We've sold out. (1 . 7)

Exercise

Change the form of the verbs in italics:

1. I haven't seen him for three years.
2. There are not many people here.

3. He doesn't understand what you're saying.
4. She did not tell me she had not seen you.
5. I shall not stay a moment longer.
6. He will not do as he is told.
7. When'll I see you?
8. What've you done? You've broken that bottle!
9. He's in the living room. He's just come home.
10. I cannot understand why he hasn't arrived.
11. You mustn't believe him.
12. I wasn't expecting you. You weren't supposed to arrive until 6 o'clock.
13. That man's been in prison.
14. They hadn't seen the film before.

Key Structures

You must give up fishing.

Study these sentences carefully. Pay close attention to the verbs in italics. All these verbs end in -ing.

a Eating is always a pleasure.

Watching television is my favourite pastime.

Reading in bed is something I always enjoy.

b I am very keen on cycling.

She is afraid of staying in that house alone.

He is capable of doing anything.

c Note how these sentences have been joined:

He sat there. He did not say anything.

He sat there without saying anything.

He turned off the radio. He left the room.

Before leaving the room, he turned off the radio.

He looked at his watch. He hurried to the station.

After looking at his watch, he hurried to the station.

He congratulated me. I won the competition.

He congratulated me on winning the competition.

Or: He congratulated me on having won the competition.

Exercises

A. Underline all the verbs in the passage that end in -ing.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

(Fish) is my favourite sport. I often fish for hours without (catch) anything. But this does not worry me. Some fishermen are unlucky. Instead of (catch) fish, they catch old boots and rubbish. I am even less lucky. I never catch anything—not even old boots. After (have spend) whole mornings on the river, I always go home with an empty bag. ‘You must give up (fish)!’ my friends say. ‘It’s a waste of time.’ But they don’t realize one important thing. I’m not really interested in (fish). I am only interested in (sit) in a boat and (do) nothing at all!

C. Join these pairs of sentences with the words given in brackets. Make any other necessary changes.

1. He went out of the restaurant. (without) He did not pay the bill.
2. She bought a pair of boots. (instead of) she did not get a pair of shoes.
3. She was afraid. (of) she did not spend the night alone.
4. (After) She heard the news. She fainted.
5. Think carefully. (before) Answer my question.
6. (on) I saw the plane coming towards me. I dashed for cover.

21 Mad or Not?

ئۇ ساراڭمۇ نېمە؟

Aeroplanes are slowly driving me mad. I live near an airport and passing planes can be heard night and day. The airport was built during the war, but for some reason it could not be used then. Last year, however, it came into use. Over a hundred people must have been driven away from their homes by the noise. I am one of the few people left. Sometimes I think this house will be knocked down by a passing plane. I have been offered a large sum of money to go away, but I am determined to stay here. Everybody says I must be mad they are probably right.

My daughter, Jane, never dreamed of receiving a letter from a girl of her own age in Holland. Last year, we were travelling across the Channel and Jane put a piece of paper with her name and address on it into a bottle. She threw the bottle into the sea. She never thought of it again, but ten months later, she received a letter from a girl in Holland. Both girls write to each other regularly now. However, they have decided to use the post-office. Letters will cost a little more, but they will certainly travel faster.

23 A New House

يېڭى ئۆي

I had a letter from my sister yesterday. She lives in Nigeria. In her letter, she said that she would come to England next year. If she comes, she will get a surprise. We are now living in a beautiful new house in the country. Work on it had begun before my sister left. The house was completed five months ago. In my letter, I told her that she could stay with us. The house has many large rooms and there is a lovely garden. It is a very modern house, so it looks strange to some people. It must be the only modern house in the district.

I entered the hotel manager's office and sat down. I had just lost £50 and I felt very upset. 'I left the money in my room,' I said, 'and it's not there now.' The manager was sympathetic, but he could do nothing. 'Everyone's losing money these days,' he said. He started to complain about this wicked world but was interrupted by a knock at the door. A girl came in and put an envelope on his desk. It contained £50. 'I found this outside this gentleman's room,' she said. 'Well,' I said to the manager, 'there is still some honesty in this world!'

3. I showed the letter to George.
4. Pass that cup to your mother.
5. Johnny gave the doll to his sister.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT

In Unit 1 you learned how to write simple statements. In Unit 2 you will learn how to join simple statements together with words like 'and', 'but', 'so'. You will learn how to write sentences which contain more than one idea.

Unit 2

Before you begin each exercise, read these instructions carefully. Read them each time you begin a new piece. They are very important.

How to work—Comprehension and Practice

Unit 2 contains twenty-four short passages. There are questions under each piece. Your answers to these questions will often contain more than one idea. Put your answers together to make a short paragraph.

1. Read the passage carefully two or three times. Make sure you understand it.
2. Write a full answer to each question. When you find two or three questions together, join up your answers with the joining words given in brackets. Each answer you write must be a complete sentence.
3. Your answers to the questions must follow each other. All your answers together will then make a complete paragraph.
4. Read through your work and correct your mistakes.
5. Count the number of words in your paragraph. Words like 'the', 'is', 'and', 'but', 'so' etc. count as single words. Words which are joined by a hyphen (e.g. 'living-room') also count as single words. Do not go over the word limit. At the end of your paragraph write

Example

Work through this example carefully and then try to do the exercises in Unit 2 in the same way.

What's the Time?

People often collect things. Stamps, books and records are fairly common. But the strangest collection I have ever seen belongs to a man who possesses 1500 clocks. There are clocks in every room of his house. The living-room is surrounded by shelves which have been filled with clocks. As there is not enough room for so many clocks, the man has filled several trunks and stored them in the garage. His wife complains every day about the work she has to do, for it is not easy to dust several hundred clocks. She also complains about the noise. Each clock keeps its own time, so chimes can be heard almost any time during the day and night. In her opinion, however, there is something even worse than dust and noise. Even with so many clocks around, she never knows what time it is!

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 70 words.

1. How many clocks has a man collected? Has he put them in every room of his house or not? (and)
2. Has he surrounded his living-room with them or not? What else has he filled? (not only...but...as well)
3. Does his wife have to dust hundreds of clocks or not?
4. Does she complain about the work and the noise or not?

5. Does each clock keep the correct time, or does it keep its own time?
6. What does she hear day and night? Does she ever know the correct time or not? (Because of this...not only...but)

Answer

A man has collected 1500 clocks and has put them in every room of his house. He has not only surrounded his living—room with them, but has filled several trunks as well. His wife has to dust hundreds of clocks. She complains about the work and noise. Each clock keeps its own time. Because of this, she not only hears chimes day and night, but never knows the correct time. (70 words)

Composition

In Unit 2 Composition has been dealt with separately. This Unit contains two types of composition exercise:

1. Learning how to select correct verbs and joining words.
(Passages 25—36.)
2. Joining simple sentences together. (Passages 37—48.)

Examples

Work through these examples carefully and then try to do the composition exercises in the same way.

1. Composition

Rewrite these sentences using the correct verbs and joining words:

He never (knows) (understands) the correct time (and) (but) is often late for work. It was his birthday last week (so) (yet) his wife (took) (bought) him a present. She (brought) (bought) him an alarm clock

(but)(and)he was(delighted)(enjoyed)with it.

Answer

He never knows the correct time and is often late for work. It was his birthday last week so his wife bought him a present. She bought him an alarm clock and he was delighted with it.

2. Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. His wife tells him he must sell the clocks. He must give them away to a museum. (either...or)
2. He refuses to do so. He spends even more money on clocks. (not only...but)
3. He says he will not sell them. He will not give them away. (neither...nor)

Answer

His wife tells him he must either sell the clocks or give them away to a museum. He not only refuses to do so but spends even more money on clocks. He says he will neither sell them nor give them away.

Letter—writing

This is begun in Unit 2. Carefully follow the instructions given under each passage.

Key Structures and Special Difficulties

When you finish the Letter—writing exercise, go on to the language exercises that follow. The Key Structures deal with exactly the same problems that were considered in Unit 1. You may refer back if you have forgotten anything. A little more new information about the Key Structures is added here. Special Difficulties are dealt with after the Key Structures. The work you do in grammar is based on material contained in the passages. Refer to do the passages frequently. They will help you to understand the grammar and to do the exercises.

2. Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets.

1. His wife tells him he must sell the clock. He must give them away to a museum. (either...or)
2. He refuses to do so. He spends even more money on clocks. (not only...but)
3. He says he will not sell them. He will not give them away. (neither...nor)

Answer

His wife tells him he must either sell the clock or give them away to a museum. He not only refuses to do so but spends even more money on clocks. He says he will neither sell them nor give them away.

Letter-writing

This is begun in Unit 2. Carefully follow the instructions given under each passage.

25 Do the English Speak English?

ئەنگلىيىلىكلەرنىڭ سۆزلىگىنى ئىنگلىز تىلىمۇ؟

I arrived in London at last. The railway station was big, black and dark. I did not know the way to my hotel, so I asked a porter. I not only spoke English very carefully, but very clearly as well. The porter, however, could not understand me. I repeated my question several times and at last he understood. He answered me, but he spoke neither slowly nor clearly. 'I am a foreigner,' I said. Then he spoke slowly, but I could not understand him. My teacher never spoke English like that! The porter and I looked at each other and smiled. Then he said something and I understood it. 'You'll soon learn English!' he said. I wonder. In England, each man speaks a different language. The English understand each other, but I don't understand them! Do they speak English?

Word Order in Compound Statements

a Do you remember the six parts of a simple statement? Refer to KS13c if you have forgotten them.

b We can join simple statements together to make compound statements. Here are some of the joining words we use; and, but, so, yet, or, both... and, either... or, neither... nor, not only... but

...as well(or also).

Study these sentences carefully. Pay close attention to the way they have been joined:

He finished lunch. He went into the garden.

He finished lunch and went into the garden.

I ran to the station. I missed the train.

I ran to the station but missed the train.

I saw him yesterday. He did not greet me.

I saw him yesterday but he did not greet me.

He teaches English. I teach English.

Both he and I teach English.

He teaches English. He teaches French.

He teaches both English and French.

You must tell him. I must tell him.

Either you or I must tell him.

He plays soccer. He plays rugby.

He plays either soccer or rugby.

He does not speak English. I do not speak English.

Neither he nor I speak English.

He does not speak English. He does not speak French.

He speaks neither English nor French.

He cannot read. He cannot write.

He can neither read nor write.

You must wash the dishes. You must sweep the floor.

You must not only wash the dishes but sweep the floor as well.

Exercises

- A. Underline the joining words in the passage.
- B. Join these pairs of sentences. Use the joining words in brackets.

Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

1. I did not know the way to my hotel. I asked a porter. (so)
2. I spoke English very carefully. I spoke very clearly. (not only ... but... as well)
3. I repeated my question several times. At last he understood. (and)
4. He answered me. He did not speak slowly. He did not speak clearly. (but... neither... nor)
5. Then he spoke slowly. I could not understand him. (but)
6. Then he said something. I understood it. (and)
7. The English understand each other. I don't understand them. (but)

C. Join these sentences with the words in brackets:

1. I knocked at the door. He did not open it. (but)
2. He went on holiday. I went on holiday. (Both... and)
3. He must be mad, He must be very wise. (either ... or)

Composition

Join the following sentences using the words in brackets:

1. My sister went shopping. I went shopping. (Both... and)
2. We got very tired. We got very hungry. (not only... but... as well)
3. It was three o'clock. We could not get lunch. We had a cup of tea. (and... so)

26 The Best Art Critics

ئەڭ ياخشى سەنئەت تەقرىزچىلىرى

I am an art student and I paint a lot of pictures. Many people that they understand modern art. They always tell you what a picture is 'about'. Of course, many pictures are not 'about' anything. They are just pretty patterns. We like them in the same way that we like pretty curtain material. I think that young children often appreciate modern pictures better than anyone else. They notice more. My sister is only seven, but she always tells me whether my pictures are good or not. She came into my room yesterday.

'What are you doing?' she asked.

'I'm hanging this picture on the wall,'

I answered. 'It's a new one. Do you like it?'

She looked at it critically for a moment. 'It's all right,' she said, 'but isn't it upside-down?'

I looked at it again. She was right! It was!

These things always happen.

a I am having breakfast. Do you always get up so late? (Now and Always KS15)

b These things always happen:

The earth goes round the sun.

The sun rises in the east and sets in the west.

c We rarely put —ing at the end of these verbs; appear, appreciate, believe, feel, forget, hear, know, like, look like, notice, remember, resemble, see, think(that), understand.

These verbs tell us what always happens:

I hear that you like classical music.

I remember Tom very well. Do you know him?

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage that tell us what always happens and those which tell us what is happening now.

B. What is happening? What always happens?

Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets:

'Some people still (believe) the world is flat,' he said.

'You(joke),'I replied. 'I(not know)anyone who does.'

'Well, you(know)me,'he replied. 'I(believe)that the earth is flat. I met a man the other day. I (forget)his name now. He said that the earth(look)like a flat dish.'

'...you(try)to tell me that you(believe)him?'I asked.

'I certainly do,'he answered. ' I(think)that he is right.'

'And which side of the dish...you(live)on?'

'Oh,I(not know). He didn't tell me that!'

Special Difficulties

Speech Marks

In written conversation, we put speech marks('...')or('...') round the words that are actually spoken. Read this carefully:

'What are you doing?'she asked.

'I'm hanging this picture on the wall,'I answered. 'It's a new one. Do you like it'?

She looked at it critically for a moment. 'It's all right,' she said, 'but isn't it upsidedown?' (ll. 14—18)

Some things to notice:

- a The speech marks are above the line. They go outside all other marks like commas (,)full stops(.)and question marks(?).
- b The speaker's first word begins with a capital letter.
- c Words like 'said'and 'asked'are followed by a comma. We put a full stop after them only when they come at the end of a sentence.
- d When words like 'said'or 'asked'interrupt the speaker, the second half of the sentence begins with a small letter.
- e We begin a new paragraph each time a new speaker is introduced.

Exercise

Write this piece of conversation again using speech marks:
Look! she said, isn't that man drunk? I think we should cross the road, answered her husband. It's too late now, she replied. Eh, you two. Look where you're going, called the drunk. Can't you walk in a straight line?

27 A Wet Night

يامغۇرلۇق تۈن

Late in the afternoon, the boys put up their tent in the middle of a field. As soon as this was done, they cooked a meal over an open fire. They were all hungry and the food smelt good. After a wonderful meal, they told stories and sang songs by the camp fire. But some time later it began to rain. The boys felt tired so they put out the fire and crept into their tent. Their sleeping — bags a stream had formed in the field.

were warm and comfortable, so they all slept soundly. In the middle of the night, two boys woke up and began shouting. The tent was full of water! They all leapt of their sleeping—bags and hurried outside. It was raining heavily and they found that a stream had formed in the field. The stream wound its way across the field and then flowed right under their tent!

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 70 words.

1. Where did the boys put up their tent? What did they cook?

(and)

2. What did they do after their meal? Did it begin to rain or not? Did they creep into their tent or not? (but...so)
3. Did the boys wake up in the middle of the night or not?
4. Was the tent full of water or not? Did they rush outside or did they in their tent? (so)
5. Where had a stream formed? Where did it flow? (and)

Composition

Rewrite these sentences using the correct verbs and joining words:

I am very tall (and)(but) I must be careful. Doorways are often low (and)(but) I usually (beat) (knock) my head against them. My head always(hurts)(pains). I have never (met) (recognized) a tall architect. Have you?

Letter—writing

The order of the heading is as follows: the number of the house, the name of the street, the town or city, the area, the country and the date. Put in the name of the country only when you are writing to someone who lives abroad.

Exercise

Arrange the following heading in the correct order:

California, Woodside, 21st Feb. , 19—, U. S. A. , 21 Brook St. ,

Key Structures

What happened? (KS 17)

Read these sentences carefully. The verbs in italics tell us what happened:

I lost my umbrella a few days ago.

I bought this coat yesterday.

I dreamt of you last night.

She paid the bill and left the shop.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage that tell us what happened.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

Late in the afternoon, the boys(put)up their tent in the middle of a field. As soon as this(do), they(cook)a meal over an open fire. They were all hungry and the food(smell)good. After a wonderful meal, they(tell)stories and (sing)songs by the camp fire. But some time later it(begin)to rain. The boys(fell)tired so they(put)out the fire and(creep)into their tent. Their sleeping—bags were warm and comfortable, so they all(sleep)soundly. In the middle of the night, two boys(wake)up and(begin)shouting. The tent(be)full of water! They all(leap)out of their sleeping—bags and(hurry)outside. It was raining heavily and they(find)that a stream had formed in the field. The stream (wind)its way across the field and then(flow)right under their tent!

Special Difficulties

(See SD 24,26)

29 Taxi!

تەكسى

Captain Ben Fawcett bought an unusual taxi and has begun a new service. The 'taxi' is a small Swiss aeroplane called a 'Pilatus Porter'. This wonderful plane can carry seven passengers. The most surprising thing about it, however, is that it can land anywhere; on snow, water, or even on a ploughed field. Captain Fawcett's first passenger was a doctor who flew from Birmingham to a lonely village in the Welsh mountains. Since then, Captain Fawcett has flown passengers to many unusual places. Once he landed on the roof of a block of flats and on another occasion, he landed in a deserted car park. Captain Fawcett has just refused a strange request from a businessman. The man wanted to fly to Rockall, a lonely island in the Atlantic Ocean, but Captain Fawcett did not take him because the trip was too dangerous.

Example

Work through this example carefully and then try to do the exercises in Unit 2 in the same way.

What's the Time?

People often collect things. Stamps, books and records are fairly common. But the strangest collection I have ever seen belongs to a man who possesses 1500 clocks. There are clocks in every room of his house. The living—room is surrounded by shelves which have been filled with clocks. As there is not enough room for so many clocks, the man has filled several trunks and stored them in the garage. His wife complains every day about the work she has to do, for it is not easy to dust several hundred clocks. She also complains about the noise. Each clock keeps its own time, so chimes can be heard almost any time during the day and night. In her opinion, however, there is something even worse than dust and noise. Even with so many clocks around, she never knows what time it is!

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 70 words.

1. How many clocks has a man collected? Has he put them in every room of his house or not? (and)
2. Has he surrounded his living—room with them or not? What else has he filled? (not only...but...as well)
3. Does his wife have to dust hundreds of clocks or not?
4. Does she complain about the work and the noise or not?

5. Does each clock keep the correct time, or does it keep its own time?
6. What does she hear day and night? Does she ever know the correct time or not? (Because of this...not only...but)

Answer

A man has collected 1500 clocks and has put them in every room of his house. He has not only surrounded his living-room with them, but has filled several trunks as well. His wife has to dust hundreds of clocks. She complains about the work and noise. Each clock keeps its own time. Because of this, she not only hears chimes day and night, but never knows the correct time. (70 words)

Composition

In Unit 2 Composition has been dealt with separately. This Unit contains two types of composition exercise:

1. Learning how to select correct verbs and joining words.
(Passages 25—36.)
2. Joining simple sentences together. (Passages 37—48.)

Examples

Work through these examples carefully and then try to do the composition exercises in the same way.

1. Composition

Rewrite these sentences using the correct verbs and joining words:

He never (knows) (understands) the correct time (and) (but) is often late for work. It was his birthday last week (so) (yet) his wife (took) (bought) him a present. She (brought) (bought) him an alarm clock

(but)(and)he was(delighted)(enjoyed)with it.

Answer

He never knows the correct time and is often late for work. It was his birthday last week so his wife bought him a present. She bought him an alarm clock and he was delighted with it.

2. Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. His wife tells him he must sell the clocks. He must give them away to a museum. (either...or)
2. He refuses to do so. He spends even more money on clocks. (not only...but)
3. He says he will not sell them. He will not give them away. (neither...nor)

Answer

His wife tells him he must either sell the clocks or give them away to a museum. He not only refuses to do so but spends even more money on clocks. He says he will neither sell them nor give them away.

Letter—writing

This is begun in Unit 2. Carefully follow the instructions given under each passage.

Key Structures and Special Difficulties

When you finish the Letter—writing exercise, go on to the language exercises that follow. The Key Structures deal with exactly the same problems that were considered in Unit 1. You may refer back if you have forgotten anything. A little more new information about the Key Structures is added here. Special Difficulties are dealt with after the Key Structures. The work you do in grammar is based on material contained in the passages. Refer to do the passages frequently. They will help you to understand the grammar and to do the exercises.

3. Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. His wife tells him he must sell the clocks. He must give them away to a museum. (and... and)
2. He refuses to do so. He spends even more money on clocks. (not only... but)
3. He says he will not sell them. He will not give them away. (neither... nor)

Answer

His wife tells him he must either sell the clocks or give them away to a museum. He not only refuses to do so but spends even more money on clocks. He says he will neither sell them nor give them away.

Letter - writing

This is begun in Unit 3. Carefully follow the instructions given under each passage.

25 Do the English Speak English?

ئەنگلىيىلىكلەرنىڭ سۆزلىگىنى ئىنگلىز تىلىمۇ؟

I arrived in London at last. The railway station was big, black and dark. I did not know the way to my hotel, so I asked a porter. I not only spoke English very carefully, but very clearly as well. The porter, however, could not understand me. I repeated my question several times and at last he understood. He answered me, but he spoke neither slowly nor clearly. 'I am a foreigner,' I said. Then he spoke slowly, but I could not understand him. My teacher never spoke English like that! The porter and I looked at each other and smiled. Then he said something and I understood it. 'You'll soon learn English!' he said. I wonder. In England, each man speaks a different language. The English understand each other, but I don't understand them! Do they speak English?

Word Order in Compound Statements

a Do you remember the six parts of a simple statement? Refer to KS13c if you have forgotten them.

b We can join simple statements together to make compound statements. Here are some of the joining words we use: and, but, so, yet, or, both... and, either... or, neither... nor, not only... but

... as well (or also).

Study these sentences carefully. Pay close attention to the way they have been joined:

He finished lunch. He went into the garden.

He finished lunch and went into the garden.

I ran to the station. I missed the train.

I ran to the station but missed the train.

I saw him yesterday. He did not greet me.

I saw him yesterday but he did not greet me.

He teaches English. I teach English.

Both he and I teach English.

He teaches English. He teaches French.

He teaches both English and French.

You must tell him. I must tell him.

Either you or I must tell him.

He plays soccer. He plays rugby.

He plays either soccer or rugby.

He does not speak English. I do not speak English.

Neither he nor I speak English.

He does not speak English. He does not speak French.

He speaks neither English nor French.

He cannot read. He cannot write.

He can neither read nor write.

You must wash the dishes. You must sweep the floor.

You must not only wash the dishes but sweep the floor as well.

Exercises

A. Underline the joining words in the passage.

B. Join these pairs of sentences. Use the joining words in brackets.

Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

1. I did not know the way to my hotel. I asked a porter. (so)
2. I spoke English very carefully. I spoke very clearly. (not only ... but... as well)
3. I repeated my question several times. At last he understood. (and)
4. He answered me. He did not speak slowly. He did not speak clearly. (but... neither... nor)
5. Then he spoke slowly. I could not understand him. (but)
6. Then he said something. I understood it. (and)
7. The English understand each other. I don't understand them. (but)

C. Join these sentences with the words in brackets:

1. I knocked at the door. He did not open it. (but)
2. He went on holiday. I went on holiday. (Both... and)
3. He must be mad, He must be very wise. (either ... or)

Composition

Join the following sentences using the words in brackets:

1. My sister went shopping. I went shopping. (Both... and)
2. We got very tired. We got very hungry. (not only... but... as well)
3. It was three o'clock. We could not get lunch. We had a cup of tea. (and... so)

26 The Best Art Critics

ئەڭ ياخشى سەنئەت تەقرىزچىلىرى

I am an art student and I paint a lot of pictures. Many people that they understand modern art. They always tell you what a picture is 'about'. Of course, many pictures are not 'about' anything. They are just pretty patterns. We like them in the same way that we like pretty curtain material. I think that young children often appreciate modern pictures better than anyone else. They notice more. My sister is only seven, but she always tells me whether my pictures are good or not. She came into my room yesterday.

'What are you doing?' she asked.

'I'm hanging this picture on the wall,'

I answered. 'It's a new one. Do you like it?'

She looked at it critically for a moment. 'It's all right,' she said, 'but isn't it upside—down?'

I looked at it again. She was right! It was!

Key Structures

These things always happen.

a I am having breakfast. Do you always get up so late? (Now and Always KS15)

b These things always happen:

The earth goes round the sun.

The sun rises in the east and sets in the west.

c We rarely put —ing at the end of these verbs: appear, appreciate, believe, feel, forget, hear, know, like, look like, notice, remember, resemble, see, think(that), understand.

These verbs tell us what always happens:

I hear that you like classical music.

I remember Tom very well. Do you know him?

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage that tell us what always happens and those which tell us what is happening now.

B. What is happening? What always happens?

Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets:

'Some people still(believe)the world is flat,'he said.

'You(joke),'I replied. 'I(not know)anyone who does.'

'Well, you(know)me,'he replied. 'I(believe)that the earth is flat. I met a man the other day. I (forget)his name now. He said that the earth(look)like a flat dish.'

'...you(try)to tell me that you(believe)him?'I asked.

'I certainly do,'he answered. ' I(think)that he is right.'

'And which side of the dish...you(live)on?'

'Oh,I(not know). He didn't tell me that!'

Special Difficulties

Speech Marks

In written conversation, we put speech marks('...')or('...') round the words that are actually spoken. Read this carefully:

'What are you doing?'she asked.

'I'm hanging this picture on the wall,'I answered. 'It's a new one. Do you like it'?

She looked at it critically for a moment. 'It's all right,' she said, 'but isn't it upsidedown?' (ll. 14—18)

Some things to notice:

a The speech marks are above the line. They go outside all other marks like commas (,)full stops(.)and question marks(?).

b The speaker's first word begins with a capital letter.

c Words like 'said'and 'asked'are followed by a comma. We put a full stop after them only when they come at the end of a sentence.

d When words like 'said'or 'asked'interrupt the speaker, the second half of the sentence begins with a small letter.

e We begin a new paragraph each time a new speaker is introduced.

Exercise

Write this piece of conversation again using speech marks:
Look! she said, isn't that man drunk? I think we should cross the road, answered her husband. It's too late now, she replied. Eh, you two. Look where you're going, called the drunk. Can't you walk in a straight line?

Late in the afternoon, the boys put up their tent in the middle of a field.

As soon as this was done, they cooked a meal over an open fire.

They were all hungry and the food smelt good. After a wonderful meal, they told stories and sang songs by the camp fire. But some time later it began to rain. The boys felt tired so they put out the fire and crept into their tent. Their sleeping — bags were warm and comfortable, so they all slept soundly. In the middle of the night, two boys woke up and began shouting. The tent was full of water!

They all leapt of their sleeping — bags and hurried outside. It was raining heavily and they found that a stream had formed in the field.

The stream wound its way across the field and then flowed right under their tent!

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 70 words.

1. Where did the boys put up their tent? What did they cook?

(and)

2. What did they do after their meal? Did it begin to rain or not? Did they creep into their tent or not? (but...so)
3. Did the boys wake up in the middle of the night or not?
4. Was the tent full of water or not? Did they rush outside or did they in their tent? (so)
5. Where had a stream formed? Where did it flow? (and)

Composition

Rewrite these sentences using the correct verbs and joining words:

I am very tall (and)(but) I must be careful. Doorways are often low (and)(but) I usually (beat) (knock) my head against them. My head always(hurts)(pains). I have never(met)(recognized)a tall architect. Have you?

Letter—writing

The order of the heading is as follows; the number of the house, the name of the street, the town or city, the area, the country and the date. Put in the name of the country only when you are writing to someone who lives abroad.

Exercise

Arrange the following heading in the correct order;

California, Woodside, 21st Feb. , 19—, U. S. A. ,21Brook St. ,

Key Structures

What happened? (KS 17)

Read these sentences carefully. The verbs in italics tell us what happened:

I lost my umbrella a few days ago.

I bought this coat yesterday.

I dreamt of you last night.

She paid the bill and left the shop.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage that tell us what happened.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

Late in the afternoon, the boys(put)up their tent in the middle of a field. As soon as this(do), they(cook)a meal over an open fire. They were all hungry and the food(smell)good. After a wonderful meal, they(tell)stories and (sing)songs by the camp fire. But some time later it(begin)to rain. The boys(fell)tired so they(put)out the fire and(creep)into their tent. Their sleeping—bags were warm and comfortable, so they all(sleep)soundly. In the middle of the night, two boys(wake)up and(begin)shouting. The tent(be)full of water! They all(leap)out of their sleeping—bags and(hurry)outside. It was raining heavily and they(find)that a stream had formed in the field. The stream (wind)its way across the field and then(flow)right under their tent!

Special Difficulties

(See SD 24,26)

Study these sentences. Each one contains the verb put. The verb has a different meaning in each sentence:

The boys put up their tent in the middle of a field. (ll. 1—2)

They put out the fire and crept into their tent. (ll. 8—9)

I put on my coat and left the house.

You needn't go back to London tonight. We can put you up for the night. (We can provide you with a bed.)

The teacher sent the boy to the headmaster. He could not put up with him any longer. (He could not stand him.)

Take out your note-books. Put down all the sentences that are on the blackboard. (Write all the sentences...)

We cannot have the meeting tonight. We shall have to put it off until tomorrow. (We shall have to postpone it.)

Close your books and put them away.

Exercise

Use the correct expression with put in each of the following:

1. Mrs Bowers told her children to...their toys and go to bed.
2. You can stay here tonight. We can...you... in the spare room.
3. I'm not ready yet. I haven't...my shoes...
4. 'Open your copy books and ...the following,' the teacher said.
5. Father is...the fire he lit in the garden.
6. When they have...that new building, it will spoil the view.
7. I have...my trip to Japan until next month.
8. I am getting a divorce. I can't...him any longer.

29 Taxi!

تەكسى

Captain Ben Fawcett bought an unusual taxi and has begun a new service. The 'taxi' is a small Swiss aeroplane called a 'Pilatus Porter'. This wonderful plane can carry seven passengers. The most surprising thing about it, however, is that it can land anywhere; on snow, water, or even on a ploughed field. Captain Fawcett's first passenger was a doctor who flew from Birmingham to a lonely village in the Welsh mountains. Since then, Captain Fawcett has flown passengers to many unusual places. Once he landed on the roof of a block of flats and on another occasion, he landed in a deserted car park. Captain Fawcett has just refused a strange request from a businessman. The man wanted to fly to Rockall, a lonely island in the Atlantic Ocean, but Captain Fawcett did not take him because the trip was too dangerous.

The Wayle is a small river that cuts across the park near my home. I like sitting by the Wayle on fine afternoons.

It was warm last Sunday, so I went and sat on the river bank as usual.

Some children were playing games on the bank and there were some people rowing on the river. Suddenly, one of the children kicked a ball very hard and it went towards a passing boat. Some people on the bank called out to the man in the boat, but he did not hear them. The ball struck him so hard that he nearly fell into the water. I turned to look at the children, but there weren't any in sight; they had all run away! The man laughed when he realized what had happened. He called out to the children and threw the ball back to the bank.

31 Success Story

مۇۋەپپەقىيەت يولى

Yesterday afternoon Frank Hawkins was telling me about his experiences as a young man . Frank is now the head of a very large business company , but as a boy he used to work in a small shop. It was his job to repair bicycles and at that time he used to work fourteen hours a day. He saved money for years and in 1938 he bought a small work—shop of his own. During the war Frank used to make spare parts for aeroplanes. At that time he had two helpers . By the end of the war , the small work—shop had become a large factory which employed seven hundred and twenty—eight people. Frank smiled when he remembered his hard early years and the long road to success. He was still smiling when the door opened and his wife came in. She wanted him to repair their son's bicycle!

32 Shopping Made Easy

ئېلىش - بېرىش ئاسانلاشتى

People are not so honest as they once were. The temptation to steal is greater than ever before — especially in large shops. A detective recently watched a well-dressed woman who always went into a large store on Monday mornings. One Monday, there were fewer people in the shop than usual when the woman came in, so it was easier for the deetective to watch her. The woman first bought a few small articles. After a little time, she chose one of the most expensive dresses in the shop and handed it to an assistant who wrapped it up for her as quickly as possible. Then the woman simply took the parcel and walked out of the shop without paying. When she was arrested, the detective found out that the shop-assistant was her daughter. The girl 'gave' her mother a free dress once a week!

33 Out of the Darkness

قاراڭغۇدىن قۇتۇلۇش

Nearly a week passed before the girl was able to explain what had happened to her. One afternoon she set out from the coast in a small boat and was caught in storm. Towards evening, the boat struck a rock and the girl jumped into the sea. Then she swam to the shore after spending the whole night in the water. During that time she covered a distance of eight miles. Early next morning, she saw a light ahead. She knew she was near the shore because the light was high up on the cliffs. On arriving at the shore, the girl struggled up the cliff towards the light she had seen. That was all she remembered. When she woke up a day later, she found herself in hospital.

34 Quick Work

تېز ئىش

Ted Robinson has been worried all the week. Last Tuesday he received a letter from the local police. In the letter he was asked to call at the station. Ted wondered why he was wanted by the police, but he went to the station yesterday and now he is not worried any more. At the station, he was told by a smiling policeman that his bicycle had been found. Five days ago, the policeman told him, the bicycle was picked up in a small village four hundred miles away. It is now being sent to his home by train. Ted was most surprised when he heard the news. He was amused too, because he never expected the bicycle to be found. It was stolen twenty years ago when Ted was a boy of fifteen!

Letter — writing

In the address we usually write 'St.' for 'Street'; 'Rd.' for 'Road'; 'Sq.' for 'Square'; 'Ave.' for 'Avenue'; 'Pl.' for 'Place'.

We write words like 'Lane' and 'Drive' in full.

Exercise

Write these words in the way shown above:

Place, Avenue, Street, Road, Square

Key Structures

He was asked to call at the station.

Do you remember these sentences? (KS 31)

Prisoners of war built this bridge in 1942. (Who)

This bridge was built (by prisoners of war) in 1942. (What)

Now study these sentences:

They asked me to make a speech. (Who)

I was asked to make a speech. (Who)

You will notice that the form of the verb depends on the person or thing we mention first. We mention the most important person or thing first.

Instead of saying:

They are sending him abroad.

We can say:

He is being sent abroad.

The police were questioning the man. The man was being questioned (by the police).

He told me to wait for him. I was told to wait for him.

They have found your wallet. Your wallet has been found.

He never expected them to find the bicycle. He never expected the bicycle to be found.

Exercises

A. Answer these question on the passage . Write a complete sentence in answer to each question:

1. Who has been worried all the week?
2. What was Ted asked to do?
3. What did Ted wonder?
4. What was Ted told at the station?
5. Where was Ted's bicycle picked up?
6. Where is the bicycle being sent?
7. What did Ted feel when he heard the news?
8. Why was Ted amused?
9. How long ago was the bicycle stolen?

B. Change the form of the phrase in italics. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

1. Something has worried Ted all the week.
2. In the letter they asked him to call at the station.
3. Ted wondered why the police wanted him.
4. At the station, a smiling policeman told him that they had found his bicycle.
5. They picked up the bicycle in a small village.
6. They are sending it to his home by train.

7. This amused him because he never expected them to find the bicycle. Someone stole it twenty years ago.

Special Difficulties

Read these sentences. Each sentence contains the verb call. The verb has a different meaning in each sentence:

He was asked to call at the station. (3-4)

He called out to me but I did not hear him.

I called on George yesterday. (I paid him a short visit.)

She'll call you up tomorrow. (She will telephone you.)

36 Across the Channel

دېڭىز بوغۇزىدىن كېسىپ ئۆتۈش

Erna Hart is going to swim across the English Channel tomorrow. She is going to set out from the French coast at five o'clock in the morning. Erna is only fourteen years old and she hopes to set up a new world record. She is a strong swimmer and many people feel that she is sure to succeed.

Erna's father will set out with her in a small boat. Mr Hart has trained his daughter for years. Tomorrow he will be watching her anxiously as she swims the long distance to England. Erna intends to take short rests every two hours. She will have something to drink but she will not eat any solid food. Most of Erna's school friends will be waiting for her on the English coast. Among them will be Erna's mother, who swam the Channel herself when she was a girl.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these question in not more than 55 words.

1. Who is going to swim across the English Channel tomorrow?
2. How old is she? Is she a strong swimmer or not? (and)
3. Whom has Erna been trained by?

4. Will he follow her in a small boat or not?
5. Where will Erna's mother be waiting?
6. What did she do as a girl?

Composition

Rewrite these sentences using the correct verbs and joining words:

The man on the raft saw the boat (so) (but) he tried to send a signal.
 He (took off) (put out) his shirt (or) (and) (waved) (shook) it (but)
 (so) the men on the boat (neither) (either) saw (or) (heard) (listened to) him.

Letter — writing

We do not always write the names of areas or postal districts in full when writing the address. Sometimes we write part of a name or only capital letters. For instance; 'Berks.' stands for 'Berkshire'; 'Calif.' for 'California'; 'N. W. 3.' for 'North West 3'; 'N. Y.' for 'New York'.

Exercise

Write these words again in the way they might appear in an address:

Street, Road, Avenue, Square, Place, New York, West 8, South West 3.

Key Structures

She is going to swim across the Channel tomorrow.

Instead of saying: (KS 35):

I shall travel by air.

He will sell his car.

We can say:

I am going to travel by air.

He is going to sell his car.

They will move to a new house.

I intend to write to him.

She means to ask for an explanation.

They are going to move to a new house.

I am going to write to him.

She is going to ask for an explanation.

We can often use going to in place of shall or will in simple statements and questions. (KS 13) We cannot use going to in sentences like this one:

You will enjoy yourself if you travel by sea.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage which tell us what will happen, what is going to happen, and what will be happening. (KS 37)

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

Erna Hart (swim) across the English Channel tomorrow. She (set out) from the French coast at five o'clock in the morning. Erna is only fourteen years old and she hopes to set up a new world record. Erna's father (set out) with her in a small boat. Mr Hart has trained his daughter for years. Tomorrow he (watch) her anxiously as she swims the long distance to England. Erna intends to take short rest every two hours. She (have) something to drink but she (not eat) any solid food. Most of Erna's school friends (wait) for her on the English coast. Among them (be) Erna's mother, who swam the Channel herself when she was a girl.

C. Write these sentences again. Use going to in place of the verbs in italics:

1. We intend to leave at six o'clock.
2. I intend to pay these bills tomorrow.
3. Do you intend to write to him?
4. She does not intend to look for a new job.
5. When do you intend to buy a new car?

Special Difficulties

Words Often Confused

a Watch, Look at, Follow.

Watch (something happening): Tomorrow he will be watching her anxiously. (ll. 10—11)

Look at: Look at the blackboard. Look at your book. Look at this picture.

Follow (go after): I followed my mother into the kitchen.

b Solid, Firm, Stable.

Solid (not liquid): She will not eat any solid food. (ll. 14 — 15)

Firm (not loose): I've fixed that hook. It is firm now.

(not doubtful): He gave me a firm refusal.

(not lenient): You must be very firm with that child.

Stable (often describing character): He is a very stable person.

Exercise

Use any of the above words in the following sentences:

1. I came to a ... decision and I will not change my mind.
2. I stood on the bridge and ... the boats passing by.
3. May I ... your photograph album?
4. The ice in the pond is so ... that you can walk on it.
5. I tried to persuade him but he remained ...

2. Who has designed the buildings? When will workers have completed the new stadium? (and)
3. Will the Games be held in this country for the first time or not? Are we looking forward to them or not? (and)

Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. My brother is going to the Olympic Games. I am going to the Olympic Games. (Both... and)
2. We bought tickets a long time ago . We shall be leaving soon. (and)
3. We shall see the Games. We shall visit many parts of the country. (not only ... but... as well)

Letter — writing

We must write the date in full under the address. We can write the date in two ways:

e. g. 17th April, 19— or April 17th , 19—. Numbers are written as follows; 1st(the first); 2nd(the second); 3rd(the third); 4th(the fourth) etc.

Exercise

Write these dates as they would appear in a letter:

May 6; June 21; July 30; March 3; April 22; July 1.

Key Structures

Workers will have completed the new roads by the end of this year.

a Do you remember these sentences: (KS 37)

Now

I am writing letters now.

Tomorrow

I shall be writing letters all day tomorrow.

I'll see you tomorrow.

I'll be seeing you tomorrow.

b Compare these two questions and answers:

When will they finish this bridge?

They will finish it next year.

They will have finished this bridge?

They will have finished this bridge in a year's time.

Study these examples:

I shall have completed this novel by next June.

He will have moved to a new flat in two months' time.

You will have learnt the results of the examination by then.

I shall have received a reply by this time tomorrow.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage which tell us what will happen, what will be happening, and what will have happened.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

The Olympic Games (hold) in our country in four years' time . As a great many people (visit) the country ,the government (build) new hotels,an immense stadium,and a fine new swimming pool. They also (build) new roads and special railway—line. The Games (hold) just outside the capital and the whole area (call) 'Olympic City'. Workers (complete) the new roads by the end of this year. By the end of next year they (finish) work on the new stadium . The fine modern buildings have been designed by Kurt Gunter. Everybody (watch)anxiously as the new buildings go up.

Special Difficulties

a Hold . The Olympic Games will be held in our country (ll. 1—2)

This verb may be used in the sense of 'conduct,' 'observe' or 'celebrate'. Study these examples:

A festival is held at Edinburgh every year.

We are going to hold a meeting tomorrow to discuss the subject.

The next conference will be held in Geneva.

b Study these sentences. The verb look has a different meaning in each sentence:

Look forward to (expect with pleasure): I am looking forward to the summer holidays.

Look out (be careful): Look out! A bus is coming.

Look up (get information from a reference book): I don't understand this word. I shall look it up in a dictionary.

(visit): Don't forget to look me up when you return.

Exercise

Supply the correct form of hold or look in these sentences:

1. We shall be ... a party tomorrow. I am ... it very much.
2. ...! You nearly knocked that jug over!
3. They say he is very famous. I shall ... him ... in Who's Who'.

38 Everything Except the Weather

ئاقلىنىڭمۇ كەتكۈزۈپ قويدىغان يېرى بولىدۇ

My old friend, Harrison, had lived in the Mediterranean for many years before he returned to England. He had often dreamed of retiring in England and had planned to settle down in the country. He had no sooner returned than he bought a fine house and went to live there.

Almost immediately he began to complain about the weather, for even though it was still summer, it rained continually and it was often bitterly cold. After so many years of sunshine, Harrison got a shock. He acted as if he had never lived in England before. In the end, it was more than he could bear. He had hardly had time to settle down when he sold the house and left the country. The dream he had had for so many years ended there. Harrison had thought of everything except the weather.

Last week at a dinner-party, the hostess asked me to sit next to Mrs Rumbold. Mrs Rumbold was a large, unsmiling lady in a tight black dress. She did not even look up when I took my seat beside her. Her eyes were fixed on her plate and in a short time, she was busy eating. I tried to make conversation.

'A new play is coming to "The Globe" soon,' I said. 'Will you be seeing it?'

'No,' she answered.

'Will you spending your holidays abroad this year?' I asked.

'No,' she answered.

'Will you be staying in England?', I asked.

'No,' she answered.

In despair, I asked her whether she was enjoying her dinner.

'Young man,' she answered, 'If you ate more and talked less, we would both enjoy our dinner!'

41 Do You Call That a Hat?

ئاۋۇ شىلەپمۇ

'Do you call that a hat?' I said to my wife.

'You needn't be so rude about it,' my wife answered as she looked at herself in the mirror.

I sat down on one of those modern chairs with holes in it and waited. We had been in the hat shop for half an hour and my wife was still in front of the mirror.

'We mustn't buy things we don't need,' I remarked suddenly. I regretted saying it almost at once.

'You needn't have said that,' my wife answered. 'I need not remind you of that terrible tie you bought yesterday.'

'I find it beautiful,' I said. 'A man can never have too many ties.'

'And a woman can't have too many hats,' she answered.

Ten minutes later we walked out of the shop together.

My wife was wearing a hat that looked like a lighthouse!

42 Not Very Musical

مۇزىكىغا سەزگۈر ئەمەسكەن

As we had had a long walk through one of the markets of Old Delhi, we stopped at a square to have a rest. After a time, we noticed a snake — charmer with two large baskets at the other side of the square, so we went to have a look at him. As soon as he saw us, he picked up a long pipe which was covered with coins and opened one of the baskets. When he began to play a tune, we had our first glimpse of the snake. It rose out of the basket and began to follow the movements of the pipe. We were very much surprised when the snake charmer suddenly began to play jazz tunes and popular modern songs. The snake, however, continued to 'dance' slowly. It obviously could not tell the difference between Indian music and jazz!

43 Over the South Pole

جەنۇبىي قۇتۇپتىن ئۇچۇپ ئۆتۈش

In 1929, three years after his flight over the North Pole, the American explorer, R. E. Byrd, successfully flew over the South Pole for the first time. Though, at first, Byrd and his men were able to take a great many photographs of the mountains that lay below, they soon ran into serious trouble. At one point, it seemed certain that their plane would crash. It could only get over the mountains if it rose to 10,000 feet. Byrd at once ordered his men to throw out two heavy food sacks. The plane was then able to rise and it cleared the mountains by 400 feet. Byrd now knew that he would be able to reach the South Pole which was 300 miles away, for there were no more mountains in sight. The aircraft was able to fly over the endless white plains without difficulty.

Key Structures

Can and Able to

- a Do you remember these sentences: (KS 49)

Can I use your telephone?

Could I use your telephone?

b Can and Able to. Study these examples carefully:

Instead of saying:

He will come if he can.

I can see you tomorrow.

I couldn't understand him.

He said he could see me next week.

we can say:

He will come if he is able to.

I shall be able to see you tomorrow.

I wasn't able to understand him.

He said he would be able to see me next week .

c We must use was able to when we want to show that an action has been completed successfully . We can not use could in these sentences:

He was able to go to London yesterday and he enjoyed himself very much.

He didn't agree with me at first but I was able to persuade him.

He was able to leave Europe before the war began.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs can and able to in the passage.

B. Give the correct form of can and able to in this paragraph. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

Though ,at first,Byrd and his men. . . take a great many photographs of the mountains that lay below, they soon ran into serious trouble. At one point. it seemed certain that their plane would crash. It . . . only get over the mountains if it rose to 10,000 feet. Byrd at once ordered his men to throw out two heavy food sacks. The plane then . . . rise and it cleared the mountains by 400 feet. Byrd now knew that he . . . reach the South Pole which was 300 miles away. for there were no more mountains in sight. The aircraft . . . fly over the endless white plains without difficulty.

Special Difficulties

Phrases with At.

Study these examples:

At first Byrd and his men were able to take photographs.

(ll. 4—6)

Byrd at once ordered his men to throw out two food sacks.

(ll. 11—13)

Billy is not at home at present. He's at school.

After walking for several hours, we arrived at the village at last.

It's a pity you can't come to the concert. At any rate you'll be able to hear it on the radio.

44 Through the Forest

ئورمانلىقتىن كېسىپ ئۆتۈش

Mrs Anne Sterling did not think of the risk she was taking when she ran through a forest after two men. They had rushed up to her while she was having a picnic at the edge of a forest with her children and tried to steal her handbag. In the struggle, the strap broke and, with the bag in their possession, both men started running through the trees. Mrs Sterling got so angry that she ran after them. She was soon out of breath, but she continued to run. When she caught up with them, she saw that they had sat down and were going through the contents of the bag, so she ran straight at them. The men got such a fright that they dropped the bag and ran away. 'The strap needs mending', Said Mrs Sterling later, 'but they did not steal anything.'

45 A Clear Conscience

ۋىجدانى ئازابلانماسلىق

The whole village soon learnt that a large sum of money had been lost. Sam Benton, the local butcher, had lost his wallet while taking his savings to the post — office. Sam was sure that the wallet must have been found by one of the villagers, but it was not returned to him. Three months passed, and then one morning, Sam found his wallet outside his front door. It had been wrapped up in newspaper and it contained half the money he had lost, together with a note which said: 'A thief, yes, but only 50 per cent a thief!' Two month later, some more money was sent to Sam with another note: 'Only 25 per cent a thief now! In time, all Sam's money was paid back in this way. The last note said: 'I am 100 per cent honest now!'

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these question in not more than 70 words:

1. Where was the local butcher, Sam Benton, taking his savings?
 What did he lose? (but)
2. Did Sam receive half his money three month later, or did he receive all his money? Did he receive a note or not?
 (not only ... but ... as well)

3. What did the note say?
4. Did the thief include a note every time he sent Sam more money or not?
5. What did the last note say?

Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets.

1. Sam told everybody about the wallet. He did not try to find the thief. (but)
2. The man was not really a thief. He needed money badly. (but)
3. he paid back the money. He bought himself a clear conscience. (not only ... but also)

Letter — writing

Address an envelope to a married lady who lives abroad.

Key Structures

Review KS 31, 53, and 89

a Do you remember these sentences:

This bridge was built in 1942.

The thief was arrested by the police. (KS 31)

I can't find my bag, It must have been stolen.

I must be paid for this. (KS 53)

I was told to wait for him.

He never expected the bicycle to be found. (KS 89)

b Now study these examples:

address.

He told me the police had arrested the thief. He told me the thief had been arrested. (by the police)

Exercises

A. There are some verbs in the passage which are similar in form to the examples given above. Can you find them?

B. Change the form of the expressions in italics. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

The whole village soon learnt that someone had lost a large sum of money. Sam Benton, the local butcher, had lost his wallet while taking his savings to the post — office. Sam was sure that one of the villagers must have found the wallet. but no one returned it to him. Three months passed, and then one morning, Sam found his wallet outside his front door. Someone had wrapped it up in newspaper and it contained half the money he had lost, together with a note which said: 'A thief, yes, but only 50 per cent a thief!'

Two months later, someone sent more money to Sam with another note: 'Only 25 per cent a thief now!' In time, someone paid back all Sam's money in this way.

C. Change the form of the verbs in italics. Omit the word someone from each sentence:

1. Someone has prepared a meal for you.
2. Someone will translate the book into English.
3. Someone must sent a telegram to him.
4. Someone had put out the fire before the fire—brigade arrived.
5. Someone gave the cat some milk to drink.

Special Difficulties

a Words Often Confused: Steal and Rob.

Steal (something from someone or somewhere): A thief broke into the building last night and stole some money from the safe.

Rob (someone of something): Two thieves attacked him last night and robbed him of all his money.

(a building, a bank, a house etc.) The police have caught the men who robbed the bank.

b Pay back. Study these examples:

All Sam's money was paid back. (ll. 16—17) (It was repaid).

I'll pay you back for what you did to me. (I'll get my revenge on you for what you did to me.)

Exercise

Supply steal, rob or back in the following sentences:

1. Please lend me £5. I'll pay you... next week.
2. His house was... last night. Thieves broke in and ... several valuable pictures.
3. He threatened that he would pay me ... but he hasn't done so yet.

46 Expensive and Uncomfortable

قىممەت ھەم جاپا

When a plane from London arrived at Sydney airport, workers began to unload a number of wooden boxes which contained clothing. No one could not account for the fact that one of the boxes was extremely heavy. It suddenly occurred to one of the workers to open up the box. He was astonished at what he found. A man was lying in the box on top of a pile of woollen goods. He was so surprised at being discovered that he did not even try to run away. after he was arrested, the man admitted hiding in the box before the plane left London. He had had a long and uncomfortable trip, for he had been confined to the wooden box for over ten hours. The man was ordered to pay £345 for the cost of the trip. The normal price of a ticket is £230!

47 A Thirsty Ghost

ھاراقكەش جن

A public house which was recently bought by Mr Ian Thompson is up for sale. Mr Thompson is going to sell it because it is haunted. He told me that he could not go to sleep one night because he heard a strange noise coming from that the bar.

The next morning, he found that the doors had been blocked by chairs and the furniture had been moved. Though Mr Thompson had turned the lights off before he went to bed, they were on in the morning. He also said that he had found five empty whisky bottles which the ghost must have drunk the night before. When I suggested that some villagers must have come in for a free drink, Mr Thompson shook his head. The villagers have told him that they will not accept the inn even if he gives it away.

48 Did You Want to Tell Me Something

ماڭا بىر نەرسە دېمەكچىمىدىڭىز

Dentists always ask questions when it is impossible for you to answer. My dentist had just pulled out one of my teeth and had told me to rest for a while. I tried to say something, but my mouth was full of cotton — wool. He knew I collected birds' eggs and asked me whether my collection was growing. He then asked me how my brother was and whether I liked my new job in London. In answer to these questions I either nodded or made strange noises. Meanwhile, my tongue was busy searching out the hole where the tooth had been. I suddenly felt very worried, but could not say anything. When the dentist at last removed the cotton—wool from my mouth, I was able to tell him that he had pulled out the wrong tooth.

Unit 3

In Unit 3 you learned how to join simple sentences with words like 'and', 'but' and 'so' to make compound sentences. In this Unit you will learn how to join simple sentences with words like 'when', 'as' and 'while' to make complex sentences. You will learn how to write a letter, which contains several ideas.

If you can learn the exercises and their instructions carefully, learn them and you will begin in a new phase. They are very important.

How to write - Composition and Exercise

Unit 3 contains several exercises. There are questions in the end of each page.

In order to do the exercises well you will have to learn the form of writing sentences. In your exercise book to make a short paragraph.

1. Read the passage carefully and answer the questions. Make sure you understand it.
2. Write a full answer to each question. When several questions are given together, join your answers with the joining words 'and', 'but', 'so', 'when', 'as' and 'while'. Your answer will be a compound sentence.
3. Your answers to the questions must follow each other in the same order as in the passage. All your answers will form a continuous paragraph.
4. Read through your work and correct your mistakes.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT

In Unit 2 you learned how to join simple statements with words like 'and', 'but' and 'so' to make compound statements. In this Unit you will learn how to join simple statements with words like 'when', 'as' and 'while' to make complex statements. You will learn how to write sentences which contain several ideas.

Before you begin each exercise, read these instructions carefully. Read them each time you begin in a new piece. They are very important.

How to work—Comprehension and Précis

Unit 3 contains twenty—four short passages. There are questions under each piece.

Your answers to these questions will often take the form of complex statements. Put your answers together to make a short paragraph.

1. Read the passage carefully two or three times. Make sure you understand it.
2. Write a full answer to each question. When several questions are given together, join your answers with the joining words or phrases given in brackets. Each answer you write must be a complete sentence.
3. Your answers to the questions must follow each other so that all your sentences will form a complete paragraph.
4. Read through your work and correct your mistakes.

5. Count the number of words in your paragraph. Do not go over the word limit. Words like 'the', 'a' etc. count as single words. Words which are joined by a hyphen (e.g. 'living — room') also count as single words. At the end of your paragraph write the number of words that you have used.

Example

Work through this example carefully and then try to do the exercises in Unit 3 in the same way.

The Last and Longest Journey

Even ships grow old and have to be destroyed. The last journey of a ship, which people have worked in and grown to love, is always a sad occasion. The F.S. 949 had not been a great liner, or even a remarkable merchant ship. She was a U — boat and had sunk more ships during the war than any other sub marine. In one famous battle, she had sunk six ships in twenty — four hours. Alone, she had gone out to meet a convoy of merchant ships. Though these ships were protected by destroyers, the F.S. 949 had sunk four of them before she was located. During the long battle that followed, two of the destroyers were sunk and the little submarine was only slightly damaged. Now, under a cold, grey sky, people were watching silently as she came into the harbour. She would soon make her last journey out to sea before resting for ever in the depths she knew so well.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 75 words.

1. Was the F.S. 949 an old U-boat or a new one? Would she soon be destroyed or not? (which)
2. What had she done during the war?
3. How many ships had she sunk in twenty — four hours in one famous battle?
4. How many merchant ships and destroyers had she sunk on that occasion? Was she slightly damaged or not? (Though)
5. What were people doing as the F.S. 949 now came into the harbour? Would she make her last journey out to sea or not? (before)

Answer

The F.S. 949 was an old U-boat which would soon be destroyed. During the war, she had sunk more ships than any other submarine. In one famous battle, she had sunk six ships in twenty — four hours. Though on that occasion she had sunk four merchant ships and two destroyers, she was only slightly damaged. People were watching silently as the F.S. 949 now came into the harbour before she made her last journey out to sea. (74 words)

Composition

Unit 3 contains two types of composition exercise based on ideas suggested by each passage:

1. Writing two or three sentences of your own using the information which has been given in note form.
2. Joining sentences together to make complex statements.

Examples

Work through these examples carefully and then try to do the composition exercises in the same way.

1. Composition

Write two or three sentences using the ideas given below:

Nuclear submarines—may replace ordinary submarines—can travel long distances—Nautilus—North Pole—under ice—four days.

A Possible Answer

Nuclear submarines may one day replace ordinary submarines, for they can travel under water over long distances. The American nuclear submarine, Nautilus, which sailed across the North Pole, remained under ice for four days.

2. Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. The F.S. 949 failed to return home after a long sea battle. It was feared that she had been sunk. (Because)
2. Everyone was surprised. The submarine suddenly arrived three weeks later. (when)
3. She had not been badly damaged. Her radio had been put out of action. (Although)

Answer

Because the F.S. 949 failed to return home after a long sea battle, it was feared that she had been sunk. Everyone was surprised when the submarine arrived three weeks later.

Although she had not been badly damaged, her radio had been put out of action.

Letter — writing

Follow the instructions given under each passage.

Key Structures and Special difficulties

When you finish the letter — writing exercise, go on to the language exercises that follow. The Key Structures deal with exactly the same problems that were considered in Units 1 and 2. You may refer back if you have forgotten anything. A little more new information about the Key Structures is added here. Special Difficulties are dealt with after the Key Structures. The work you do in grammar is based on material contained in the passages. Refer to the passages frequently. They will help you to understand the grammar and to do the exercises.

49 The End of a Dream

چۈشنىڭ ئاخىرىدا

Tired of sleeping on the floor, a young man in Teheran saved up for years to buy a real bed. For the first time in his life, he became the proud owner of a bed which had springs and a mattress. Because the weather was very hot, he carried the bed on to the roof of his house. He slept very well for the first two nights, but on the third night, a storm blew up. A gust of wind swept the bed off the roof and sent it crashing into the courtyard below. The young man did not wake up until the bed had struck the ground. Although the bed was smashed to pieces. The man was miraculously unhurt. When he woke up, he was still on the mattress. Glancing at the bits of wood and metal that lay around him, the man sadly picked up the mattress and carried it into his house. After he had put it on the floor, he promptly went to sleep again.

Key Structures

Word Order in Complex Statements (Compare KS 13,71)

We can join simple statements together to make complex statements.

Here are some of the joining words we use: when, until, after, as soon as, while, before, because, as, since, to, in order to, although, who, which and that.

Study these simple statements carefully. Pay close attention to the way they have been joined:

He missed the train. he did not hurry.

He missed the train because he did not hurry.

He ran fast. He failed to win the race.

Although he ran fast, he failed to win the race.

I was tired, I went to sleep immediately.

I was so tired that I went to sleep immediately.

My neighbour went to Tokyo for a holiday. He could not return home. He did not have enough money.

My neighbour, who went to Tokyo for a holiday, could not return home because he did not have enough money.

I went into the garden. I wanted to pick some flowers.

I went into the garden to pick some flowers.

I found the door unlocked. I went into the kitchen.

Finding the door unlocked, I went into the kitchen.

The city was destroyed during the war. It has now been completely rebuilt.

Destroyed during the war, the city had now been completely rebuilt.

Exercises

- A. How many joining words can you find in the passage? Underline as many as you can.
- B. Rewrite these simple statements using the joining words in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.
1. A young man in Teheran was tired of sleeping on the floor. He saved up for years to buy a real bed. (Tired of sleeping)
 2. He became the proud owner of a bed. It had springs and a mattress. (which)
 3. The weather was very hot. He carried the bed on to the roof of his house. (Because)

50 Taken for a Ride

ئاپتوبۇستىن چۈشۈپ سەيلە قىلىش

I love travelling in the country,
but I don't like losing my way.
I went on an excursion recently, but my trip took me longer than
I expected.

'I'm going to Woodford
Green,' I said to the conductor as I got on the bus, 'but I don't know where it is.'

'I'll tell you where to get off,' answered the conductor.

I sat in the front of the bus to get a good view of the countryside.
After some time, the bus stopped. Looking round, I realized with a shock that I was the only passenger left on the bus.

'You'll have to get off here,' the conductor said, 'This is as far as we go.'

'Is this Woodford Green?' I asked.

'Oh dear,' said the conductor suddenly, 'I forgot to put you off.'

'It doesn't matter,' I said. 'I'll get off here.'

'We are going back now,' said the conductor.

'Well, in that case, I prefer to stay on the bus,' I answered.

Letter — writing

How to begin a letter

a Friends should be addressed by their first names; e.g. 'Dear Fred'. Never begin a letter with the words 'Dear Friend'.

b When writing to relations you may begin: Dear mother, Dear Father, Dear Uncle Fred, Dear Aunt Alice, but never 'Dear Cousin', or 'Dear Cousin Fred'

Exercise

How would you begin letters to: your grandmother; your cousin Elizabeth, your friend Jack, your uncle Tom.

Key Structures

These things always happen. (KS 74)

Here are some more verbs that tell us what always happens:

belong to, consist of, contain, desire, detest, dislike, hate, hope, love, matter, mean, mind, need, want, wish;

This box contains 48 matches.

He needs a new pair of shoes.

Those papers belong to me.

I hate writing letters.

Exercises

A. How many verbs in the passage tell us what always happens?

B. What is happening? What always happens?

Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Supply speech marks and commas where necessary and arrange the passage into paragraphs (See SD 74)

Let's eat here I said to my wife. I (prefer) to have a drink first she answered. That's a good idea I said. I picked up the menu. I (not understand) a thing I said. It's all in Spanish. It (not matter) said my wife. What ... that word (mean) I asked. I (not know) she answered. We called the waiter and pointed to the word on the menu.

Two I said, holding up two fingers. After some time, my wife said suddenly Look! He (bring) us two boiled eggs!

Special Difficulties

Words Often Confused.

a Lose, Loose, Miss.

Study these examples:

51 Reward for Virtue

گۈزەل ئەخلاققا قىلىنغان جاۋاب

My friend, Herbert, has always been fat, but things got so bad recently that he decided to go on a diet. He began his diet a week ago. First of all, he wrote out a long list of all the foods which were forbidden. The list included most of the things Herbert loves: butter, potatoes, rice, beer, milk, chocolate, and sweets. Yesterday

I paid him a visit. I rang the bell and was not surprised to see that Herbert was still as fat as ever. He led me into his room and hurriedly hid a large parcel under his desk. It was obvious that he was very embarrassed. When I asked him what he was doing, he smiled guiltily and then put the parcel on the desk. He explained that his diet was so strict that he had to reward himself occasionally. Then he showed me the contents of the parcel. It contained five large bars of chocolate and three bags of sweets!

52 A Pretty Carpet

چىرايلىق گىلەم

We have just moved into a new house and I have been working hard all morning. I have been trying to get my new room in order. This has not been easy because I own over a thousand books. To make matters worse, the room is rather small, so I have temporarily put my books on the floor. At the moment, they cover every inch of floor space and I actually have to walk on them to get in or out of the room. A short while ago, my sister helped me to carry one of my old bookcases up the stairs. She went into my room and got a big surprise when she saw all those books on the floor. 'This is the prettiest carpet I have ever seen,' she said. She gazed at it for some time then added, 'You don't need bookcases at all. You can sit here in your spare time and read the carpet!'

53 Hot Snake

توك چقرا لايدىغان يىلان

At last firemen have put out a big forest fire in California. Since then, they have been trying to find out how the fire began. Forest fires are often caused by broken glass or by cigarette ends which people carelessly throw away. Yesterday the firemen examined the ground carefully, but were not able to find any broken glass. They were also quite sure that a cigarette end did not start the fire. This morning, however, a fireman accidentally discovered the cause. He noticed the remains of a snake which was wound round the electric wires of a 16,000-volt power line. In this way, he was able to solve the mystery. The explanation was simple but very unusual. A bird had snatched up the snake from the ground and then dropped it on to the wires. The snake then wound itself round the wires. When it did so, it sent sparks down to the ground and these immediately started a fire.

54 Sticky Fingers

يېپىشقاڭ بارماق

After breakfast, I sent the children to school and then I went to market. It was still early when I returned home. The children were at school, my husband was at work and the house was quiet. So I decided to make some tarts for tea. In a short time I was busy mixing butter and flour and my hands were soon covered with sticky pastry. At exactly that moment, the telephone rang. Nothing could have been more annoying. I picked up the receiver between two sticky fingers and was dismayed when I recognized the voice of Mrs Bates. It took me ten minutes to persuade her to ring back later. At last I hung up the receiver. What a mess! There was pastry on my fingers, on the telephone, and on the door—knobs. I had no sooner got back to the kitchen than the door—bell rang loud enough to wake the dead. This time it was the postman and he wanted me to sign for a registered letter!

55 Not a Gold Mine

ئالتۇن كانى ئەمەس

Dreams of finding lost treasure almost came true recently. A new machine called 'The Revealer' has been invented and it has been used to detect gold which has been buried in the ground. The machine was used in a cave near the sea—shore where—it is said—pirates used to hide gold. The pirates would often bury gold in the cave and then fail to collect it. Armed with the new machine, a search party went into the cave hoping to find buried treasure. The leader of the party was examining the soil near the entrance to the cave when the machine showed that there was gold under the ground. Very excited, the party dug a hole two feet deep. They finally found a small gold coin which was almost worthless. The party then searched the whole cave thoroughly but did not find anything except an empty tin trunk. In spite of this, many people are confident that 'The Revealer' may reveal something of value fairly soon.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 65 words

1. Is 'The Revealer' a new machine or an old machine? Is it used for detecting buried gold or not? (which)
2. Did a search party use this machine or not? Where did they try to find gold recently? (Using this machine...)
3. Did they examine the cave thoroughly or not? Did they only find a small gold coin? Was it valuable or was it practically worthless? (Although... which)
4. Do many people believe that the machine may reveal something of value soon or not? (However)

Composition

Write two or three sentences using the ideas given below:

I was digging in the garden—lost a gold ring—searched every — where—dug up the garden—did not find it—found a valuable old coin instead.

Letter — writing

Arrange this heading in the correct order: Sevenoaks, 17 Bunyan St., England, Kent, 27th March, 19—. Now write the first sen — tence of a letter to a friend beginning: 'I was very pleased to...'

Key Structures

Pirates would often bury gold in the cave and then fail to collect it.

a Study these sentences carefully:

I dropped my briefcase as I was getting off the bus. (KS 25)

I used to go to work by bus. Now I go by car. (KS 83)

I have given up smoking. I used to smoke very heavily.

b When we refer to a definite time in the past, we can sometimes use would in place of used to. We cannot, for instance, use would in this sentence:

This sort of novel used to be very popular.

But note the use of would in these sentences:

When I was young I used to have a lot more free time than I do now. I used to live near my work and would always get home early.

Sometimes I would do a bit of gardening or go for a long walk.

Now I never have time for anything like that.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage which tell us what happened, what was happening and what used to/would happen.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

The machine (use) in a cave near the sea — shore where — it is said — pirates (hide) gold. The pirates often (bury) gold in the cave and then (fail) to collect it. Armed with the new machine, a search party (go) into the cave hoping to find buried treasure. The leader of the party (examine) the soil near the entrance to the cave when the machine (show) that there (be) gold under the ground. Very excited, the party (dig) a hole two feet deep. They finally (find) a small gold coin which was almost worthless.

Special Difficulties

Words Often Confused.

a I use, I am used to, I used to.

Study these examples:

The machine has been used to detect gold which has been buried in the ground. The machine was used in a cave near the sea—shore where—it is said—pirates used to hide gold. (ll. 4—8)

I am used to staying up late. (KS 110b)

I am used to looking after myself.

She didn't like this district at first, but she is used to it now.

Exercise

Choose the correct form of the verbs given in brackets:

1. He(is used to)(used to) work sixteen hours a day.
2. I(use to)(used to) see him often.
3. He always(uses)(used to) scented soap.
4. He(used to)(is used to) buy twenty cigarettes a day.
5. I couldn't stand the noise at first but I(am used to)(used to) it now.
6. I(am used to)(used to) swimming in cold water.

b Gold and Golden.

Study these examples:

It has been used to detect gold. (ll. 3—4)

He has a gold watch.

He missed a golden opportunity.

Exercise

Supply gold or golden:

1. All that glitter is not...
2. Silence is...

56 Faster than Sound!

ئاۋازدىن تېز

Once a year a race is held for old cars. A lot of cars entered for this race last year and there was a great deal of excitement just before it began. One of the most handsome cars was a Rolls — Royce Silver Ghost. The most unusual car was a Benz which had only three wheels. Built in 1885, it was the oldest car taking part. After a great many loud explosions, the race began. Many of the cars broke down on the course and some drivers spent more time under their cars than in them! A few cars, however, completed the race. The winning car reached a speed of forty miles an hour — much faster than any of its rivals. It speed downhill at the end of the race and its driver had a lot of trouble trying to stop it. The race gave everyone a great deal of pleasure. It was very different from modern car races but no less exciting.

57 Can I Help You Madam?

بۇيرۇڭ، خانىم

A woman in blue jeans stood at the window of an expensive shop.

Though she hesitated for a moment, she finally went in and asked to see a dress that was in the window. The assistant who served her did not like the way she was dressed. Glancing at her scornfully, he told her that the dress was sold. The woman walked out of the shop angrily and decided to punish the assistant next day. She returned to the shop the following morning dressed in a fur coat, with a handbag in one hand and a long umbrella in the other. After seeking out the rude assistant she asked for the same dress. Not realizing who she was, the assistant was eager to serve her this time. With great difficulty, he climbed into the shop window to get the dress. As soon as she saw it, the woman said she did not like it. She enjoyed herself making the assistant bring almost everything in the window before finally buying the dress she had first asked for.

58 A Blessing in Disguise?

ئاپەتتىن كېيىن ئامەت كېلىش

The tiny village of Frinley is said to possess a 'cursed tree'. Because the tree was mentioned in a newspaper, the number of visitors to Frinley has now increased. The tree was planted near a church fifty years ago, but it is only in recent years that it has gained an evil reputation, it is said that if anyone touches the tree, he will have bad luck; if he picks a leaf, he will die. Many villagers believe that the tree has already claimed a number of victims. The vicar has been asked to have the tree cut down, but so far he has refused. He has pointed out that the tree is a useful source of income as tourists have been coming from all parts of the country to see it. In spite of all that has been said, the tourists have been picking leaves and cutting their names on the tree—trunk. So far, not one of them has been struck down by sudden death!

Our dog, Rex, used to sit outside our front gate and bark. Every time he wanted to come into the garden he would bark until someone opened the gate. As the neighbours complained of the noise, my husband spent weeks training him to press his paw on the latch to let himself in. Rex soon became an expert at opening the gate. However, when I was going out shopping last week, I noticed him in the garden near the gate. This time he was barking so that someone would let him out! Since then, he has developed another bad habit. As soon as he opens the gate from the outside, he comes into the garden and waits until the gate shuts. Then he sits and barks until someone lets him out. After this he immediately lets himself in and begins barking again. Yesterday my husband removed the gate and Rex got so annoyed we have not seen him since.

At a village fair, I decided to visit a fortune — teller called Madam Bellinsky. I went into her tent and she told me to sit down. After I had given her some money, she looked into a crystal ball and said: 'A relation of yours is coming to see you. She will be arriving this evening and intends to stay for a few days. The moment you leave this tent, you will get a big surprise. A woman you know well will rush towards you. she will speak to you and then she will lead you away from this place. That is all'.

'As soon as I went outside, I forgot all about Madam Bellinsky because my wife hurried towards me. 'Where have you been hiding?' she asked impatiently. 'Your sister will be here in less than an hour and we must be at the station to meet her. We are late already.' As she walked away, I followed her out of the fair.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 80 words.

1. Whom did the writer visit at a village fair? Did she tell him that a relation was coming to see him or not? (who)
2. Who would speak to him when he left the tent? Would he follow

- her out of the fair or not? (She added that...and)
3. Did this come true or not? Did his wife speak to him when he went outside, or did a strange woman speak to him? (because)
 4. Whom did she tell him they had to meet at the station? Did she lead him out of the fair or not? (and)

Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. Fortune — tellers always tell the truth. They speak in general terms. (because)
2. They say you will go on a journey. You will meet a friend. They are right. We often do these things. (If...or....because)

Letter—writing

Address an envelope to a married couple who live abroad.

Key structures

The moment you leave this tent, you will get a big surprise.

a Do you remember these sentences: (KS 93)

I am going to travel by air.

You will enjoy yourself if you travel by sea.

b Now study these sentences carefully:

Instead of saying: We can say:

He will arrive tomorrow. He is arriving tomorrow.

He will come at 4 o'clock. He is coming at 4 o'clock.

She is leaving in two days' She is leaving in two days' time. time.

c Study these sentences, Pay close attention to the words in italics:

If it rains tomorrow we shall stay at home. (KS 43)

The moment he arrives, I shall let you know.

I shall wait here until he comes.

As soon as the rain stops, we shall go out.

You must finish your dinner before you leave the table.

We'll go into the living—room after we finish dinner.

I'll give him the message when he returns.

Exercises

A. Underline all the verbs in the passage which tell us what will happen in the future.

B. This is what Madam Bellnisky told the writer. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Note that more than one form can be used for some of these verbs. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

A relation of yours (come) to see you. She (arrive) this evening and intends to stay for a few days. The moment you (leave) this tent, you (get) a big surprise. A woman you know well (rush) towards you. She (speak) to you and then she (lead) you away from this place.

C. What will happen tonight? Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets:

A life—boat (set) out tonight to search for the ship—wreck. The crew (send) radio messages to the wreck until they (receive) a signal from the men on board. As soon as they (receive) a signal, they (try) and find the wreck with powerful searchlights. The moment the crew (locate) the wreck, they (fire) a special gun which (carry) a rope from the life—boat to the sinking ship. If the sea is rough, they (pour) oil on the water. They are sure to succeed, but if they fail, a helicopter(send) out tomorrow morning. Helicopters are very useful for rescue work, but they cannot be used at night.

Special Difficulties

At a village fair, I decided to visit a fortune-teller. (Compare SD 38)

Instead of saying:

It is better to say:

We went to the fair in the village.

We went to the village fair.

Exercise

Write these sentences again. Express the phrases in italics in a different way:

1. The dining-room in our school is very large.
2. He told us a story about ghosts.
3. She gave me a present for my birthday.
4. We stopped at an inn in the village.
5. The leader of the party made a speech.

In future, astronauts will be required to descend from a spaceship while it is still in space and to return to it. The ability to do this will be necessary in future flights to distant planets. Scientists are now trying to discover if this is possible. The spaceship Astra which left the earth a short time ago, will be travelling three hundred miles into space. At a certain point, the Astra will stop for a short time and an astronaut will attempt to leave the stationary spaceship and then return to it. We shall not know whether the experiment has been successful until we have received a radio message. The first message is expected to arrive at 7 o'clock this evening. By that time, the Astra will have been flying through space for seventeen hours and will have circled the earth a great many times. When the first radio messages have been received, the results of the trip will be announced immediately.

Answer these questions in not more than 75 words.

1. What will it be necessary for astronauts to do in future flights to distant planets?
2. When shall we know whether the astronaut in the spaceship Astra has succeeded in his attempt to do this?
3. When is a message expected? When will the results of the trip be announced? (and)

Composition

Write three or four sentences using the ideas given below:

A message was received at 7 o'clock — the Astra had stopped successfully — the astronaut descended — returned — the spaceship came back to earth — the astronaut received a hero's welcome.

Letter — writing

Learn the following opening phrases by heart:

I have not heard from you for some time, so...

It was very kind of you to...

Exercise

Write two short paragraphs (of not more than two sentences each) completing the above phrases.

Key Structures

By that time, the Astra will have been flying through space for seventeen hours.

a Do you remember these sentences: (KS 96)

I shall be writing letters all day tomorrow.

They will have finished this bridge in a year's time.

b Compare these pairs of sentences:

They will have finished this bridge in a year's time.

By next June they will have been working on it for ten months.

I shall have completed this novel by December.

By then I shall have been working on it for three years.

c Compare these pairs of sentences. Pay close attention to the words in italics. (See KS 49c)

He will have arrived by this time tomorrow.

The moment he has arrived, I shall let you know.

You can go home at 5 o'clock. You will have finished work by then.

Now that you have finished work, you can go home.

We shall go out this afternoon. It will have stopped raining by then.

As soon as it has stopped raining, we shall go out.

Exercises

A. Underline all the verbs in the passage which tell us what will happen in the future.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

62 After the Fire

ئوت ئاپتىدىن كېيىن

Firemen had been fighting the forest fire for nearly three weeks before they could get it under control. A short time before, great trees had covered the countryside for miles around. Now, smoke still rose up from the warm ground over the desolate hills. Winter was coming on and the hills threatened the surrounding villages with destruction, for heavy rain would not only wash away the soil but would cause serious floods as well. When the fire had at last been put out, the forest authorities ordered several tons of a special type of grass — seed which would grow quickly. The seed was sprayed over the ground in huge quantities by aeroplanes. The planes had been planting seed for nearly a month when it began to rain. By then, however, in many places the grass had already taken root. In place of the great trees which had been growing there for centuries, patches of green had begun to appear in the blackened soil.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 75 words.

1. How long did it take the firemen to get the forest fire under control?
2. Had all the great trees been burnt or not? Was there danger that heavy rain would cause serious floods or not? Would the floods destroy the surrounding villages or not? (Now that... which)
3. Did the forest authorities order grass—seed to prevent this or not? For how long was it sprayed over the ground by planes? (To prevent this.... which...)
4. Did it begin to rain or not? Where had the grass taken root? (By the time that...)

Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. The firemen cut down trees. They prevented the fire from spreading. (in order to)
2. The fire raged for two weeks. It caused millions of pounds worth of damage. (which)
3. Forest workers planted young trees quickly. The whole area would become a desert. (so that...not)

Letter—writing

Write six sentences beginning with each of the following phrases:

I am sorry ... ; Forgive me for ... ; I was so glad ; I have not heard ; What a surprise ... ; It was very kind ...

Key Structures

The planes had been planting seed for nearly a month when it began to rain.

a Do you remember these sentences: (KS 97b)

He lived in Scotland fifteen years ago.

He had lived in Scotland for fifteen years before he came to England.

Now compare these pairs of sentences:

b He had already finished work before I arrived.

He had been working in a factory for years before he got this job.

I asked him what he had lost.

I asked him what he had been doing all afternoon.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage which tell us what had happened and what had been happening.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

1. Firemen (fight) the forest fire for nearly three weeks before they could get it under control. A short time before, great trees (cover) the countryside for miles around.

2. The planes (plant) seed for nearly a month when it began to rain. By then, however, in many places the grass already (take) root. In place of the great trees which (grow) there for centuries, patches of green (begin) to appear in the blackened soil.

C. What happened? What had happened? What had been happening? Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets:

After Howard Carter (discover) Tutankhamen's tomb, strange reports (appear) in the newspapers. Three of the people who (take) part in the discovery (die) soon afterwards. Though nothing (happen) to Carter himself, newspapers (claim) that these people (die) because of the 'curse of the Pharaohs'. These absurd stories have been forgotten, but Carter's great discovery remains. Archaeologists (search) the Valley of Kings for years, but until 1922 nothing (find).

Special Difficulties

Words Often Confused.

a Control(1. 3) and Check. Study these examples:

He controls a large business company.

A mechanic checked my car engine.

b Great(1. 4) and Big. Study these examples:

The Parthenon is a great building. (An important building.)

Skyscrapers are big buildings.

c Soil(1. 10) and Ground(1. 6).

Olive trees can grow in poor soil.

The ball fell to the ground.

Exercise

Choose the correct words in the following sentences:

1. The inspector (checked) (controlled) my ticket.

2. Nothing can grow in this poor(soil)(ground).
3. Have you(cheked)(controlled)those figures?
4. Beethoven was a(big)(great) composer

63 She was not Amused

ئۇ قىزنى قىمىدى

Geoffrey Hampden has a large circle of friends and is very popular at parties. Everybody admires him for his fine sense of humour — everybody, that is, except his six-year-old daughter, Jenny. Recently, one of Geoffrey's closest friends asked him to make a speech at a wedding reception. This is the sort of thing that Geoffrey loves.

He prepared the speech carefully and went to the wedding with Jenny. He had included a large number of funny stories in the speech and, of course, it was a great success. As soon as he had finished, Jenny told him she wanted to go home. Geoffrey was a little disappointed by this but he did as his daughter asked. On the way home, he asked Jenny if she had enjoyed the speech. To his surprise, she said she hadn't. Geoffrey asked her why this was so and she told him that she did not like to see so many people laughing at him!

64 The Channel Tunnel

دېڭىز ئاستى تونېلى

In 1858, a French engineer, Aimé Thomé de Gamond, arrived in England with a plan for a twenty—one mile tunnel across the English Channel. He said that it would be possible to build a platform in the centre of the channel. This platform would serve as a port and a railway station. The tunnel would be well—ventilated if tall chimneys were built above sea—level. In 1860, a better plan was put forward by an Englishman, William Low. He suggested that a double railway tunnel should be built. This would solve the problem of ventilation, for if a train entered this tunnel, it would draw in fresh air behind it. Forty—two years later a tunnel was actually begun. If, at the time, the British had not feared invasion, it would have been completed. Recently, there has again been great interest in the idea of a Channel Tunnel. If it is built, it will connect Britain to Europe for the first time in history.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 85 words.

1. Who planned to build a tunnel across the English Channel in 1858? How would it be ventilated? (The tunnel, which...)
2. Who suggested a better plan two years later?
3. How would passing trains solve the problem of ventilation in his proposed double railway tunnel? (because they would)
4. Did work begin forty—two years later or not? Why was it stopped? (Though because)
5. Has there been renewed interest in the idea or not? (However)

Composition

Rewrite the following sentences using the joining words in brackets:

1. The English Channel separates Britain from Europe. The country has not been invaded since 1066. (Thanks to... which)
2. Modern warfare is far more complex. Such fears no longer exist. (However, now that...)
3. Britain would benefit enormously from a Channel Tunnel.
Europe would benefit enormously from a Channel Tunnel.
(Both... and)

Letter—writing

Write opening sentences which would be suitable for letters to the following:

1. A former school mistress who has just got engaged.

2. A friend who has sent you a telegram on your birthday.
3. A librarian who has sent you information you wanted.
4. An aunt you failed to meet for an appointment.

Key Structures

If the British had not feared invasion, it would have been completed.

a Do you remember these sentences:

If he is out, I'll call tomorrow. (KS 43a)

You'll miss the train if you don't hurry.

If you went to the exhibition you would enjoy it. (KS 101b)

If I were in your position, I would act differently.

b Now study these sentences carefully:

You would have missed the train if you had not hurried.

If you had gone to the exhibition, you would have enjoyed it.

If I had been in your position, I would have acted differently.

If you could have made him change his mind, you would have saved him a lot of trouble.

Exercises

A. How many sentences in the passage contain the word if?

Study the form of the verbs in these sentences.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

1. The tunnel would be well—ventilated if tall chimneys (be) built above sea—level.
2. If a train entered this tunnel, it (draw) in fresh air behind it.
3. If, at the time, the British had not feared invasion, it (complete).

65 Jumbo versus the Police

جامبو بىلەن ساقچىلارنىڭ ئېلىشىشى

Last Christmas, the circus owner, Jimmy Gates, decided to take some presents to a children's hospital. Dressed up as Father Christmas and accompanied by a 'guard of honour' of six pretty girls, he set off down the main street of the city riding a baby elephant called Jumbo. He should

The police had a difficult time have known that the police would never allow this sort of thing. A policeman approached Jimmy and told him he ought to have gone along a side—street as Jumbo was holding up the traffic. Though Jimmy agreed to go at once, Jumbo refused to move. Fifteen policemen had to push very hard to get him off the main street. The police had a difficult time, but they were most amused. 'Jumbo must weigh a few tons,' said a policeman afterwards, 'so it was fortunate that we didn't have to carry him. Of course, we should arrest him, but as he has a good record, we shall let him off this time.'

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 80 words.

1. What did he decide to take to a children's hospital? How did the circus owner, Jimmy Gates, dress up? Did he set off down the main street of the city, or did he go down a side—street? Was he riding an elephant called Jumbo or not? (After having... and...riding)
2. Was he told that he was holding up the traffic or not? Did Jimmy agree to go at once, or not? Did Jumbo agree to go, or did he refuse to move? How many policemen had to push him off the main street? (On being...but...so...)
3. Did he have a good record or not? Was Jumbo arrested or not? (As...however...)

Composition

Write three or four sentences using the ideas given below:

The children were waiting at the hospital—Jimmy and the guard of honour arrived—a great welcome—Jimmy gave presents to the children—they rode on Jumbo—time to leave—Jumbo refused to move.

Letter—Writing

Learn the following opening phrases by heart:

I really hate to complain, but...

Some time ago, I...

Exercise

Write two short paragraphs (of not more than two sentences each) completing the above phrases.

Key Structures

Must, Have to, Should and Ought to.

a Do you remember these sentences:

I must leave now. I have got to leave now. (KS 45a)

She had to go shopping yesterday.

b Now compare these pairs of sentences:

I can't go to the cinema tonight; I must (or have to) write some letters.

I should (or ought to) do some work tonight, but I think I shall go to the cinema instead.

I missed the train, so I had to take a taxi.

I'm sorry I'm late. I should have taken (or ought to have taken) a taxi.

Exercises

A. Study the use in the passage of have to, should and ought.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

1. He(should/know)that the police would never allow this sort of thing. A policeman approached Jimmy and told him he (ought/go) along a side—street as Jumbo was holding up the traffic.

2. Fifteen policemen(have to)push very hard.
 3. It was fortunate that we(not have to)carry him. Of course, we (should/arrest) him, but we shall let him off this time.
- C. Supply the correct form of should, ought to, or have to in these sentences:
1. He(...come)at 4 o'clock if the plane arrives on time.
 2. I didn't go shopping this morning as I(...do)the housework.
 3. She(...come)to see me yesterday, but she forgot.
 4. You(...ask)for permission before you left the table.
 5. As they didn't understand, I(...explain)everything again.

Special Difficulties

a The verb let has a different meaning in each of these sentences. Study them carefully:

As he has a good record, we shall let him off this time. (1. 19)
(We shall not punish him.) I expected him to help me, but he let me down. (He failed to do what I expected him to do.)

If anyone knocks at the door when I am out, don't let him in.

Who let the dog out?

b Words Often Confused.

Agree and Accept. Study these examples:

Though Jimmy agreed to go at once, Jumbo refused to move.

(II. 12—14)

We are not allowed to accept presents from customers.

c Dress up and Dress.

Dressed up as Father Christmas... (II. 3—4) (Wearing fancy dress.)

I got up at 6 o'clock, washed, shaved, dressed and had breakfast.

Exercise

Choose the correct words in the following sentences:

1. The teacher (agreed)(accepted) the boy's apology and let him (off)(down).
2. He was going to lend me a policeman's uniform so that I could (dress) (dress up) for the party, but he let me (in) (down).

Supplementary Written Exercises

COMPREHENSION

66 Cycling through the Air

ھاۋادا ۋېلسپىتەكە مېنىش

The Hatfield Puffin is a modern aeroplane, but its designer, Mr John Wimpenny, is finding it difficult to get it off the ground. The reason for this is that this plane is also a bicycle. Its pilot has to pedal hard to get it into the air. After Mr Wimpenny had the plane built, it was tested thoroughly. In 1961, it was the first man-powered aircraft to fly half a mile. While being flown by a champion amateur cyclist in 1963, the plane crashed on an airfield. Since then, Mr Wimpenny has had it rebuilt. He has had the length of the wings increased so that they now measure 93 feet—almost as long as those of a Dakota. Many people have shown interest in this new and unusual sport. But though air cyclists may learn how to fly over short distances, and may, eventually, even get across the English Channel, it is doubtful whether they will ever cycle across the Atlantic.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 80 words.

1. Why is the Hatfield Puffin different from other aeroplanes?
(because)
2. When did it become the first man—powered aeroplane to cover half a mile?
3. Where did it crash when flown by an amateur champion cyclist two years later?
4. Has its designer, Mr Wimpenny, had it rebuilt or not? Has he had the length of the wings increased to 93 feet or not? Is it likely that planes of this sort will be able to fly great distances or not? (Though...and)

Composition

Rewrite the sentences below using the joining words in brackets:

1. Few champion cyclists know how to fly. Few pilots are champion cyclists. It is difficult to get a man—powered aircraft off the ground. (Because...and)
2. The first man—powered aircraft has now been built. It can carry two men. (which)
3. It will carry a cyclist. It will carry a pilot. (not only...but...as well)

Letter—writing

Write a short opening paragraph of a letter to a friend who has invited you to go to the theatre with him.

Key Structures

Have. (KS 47 and 105)

Study these sentences carefully:

I washed my car. (I washed it myself.)

I had my car washed. (Someone else washed it for me.)

I shall clean this suit. (I shall clean it myself.)

I shall have this suit cleaned. (Someone else will clean it for me.)

Note this use of have:

He had his hair cut yesterday.

I shall have to have my watch repaired.

Did you have your watch repaired?

I didn't have my watch repaired.

Exercises

A. Study this use of have in the passage.

B. Write these sentences again using have with the verbs in italics. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

1. After Mr Wimpenny built the plane, it was tested thoroughly.
2. While being flown by a champion amateur cyclist in 1963, the plane crashed on an airfield. Since then, Mr Wimpenny has rebuilt it.
3. He has increased the length of the wings so that they now measure 93 feet.

C. Rewrite these sentences using have with the verbs in italics:

1. He is building a new house.
2. She will make a new dress.
3. I did not decorate the house.
4. They repaired the washing machine.
5. We must cut this tree down.

6. We have to install this new television set.

7. Mr Smith wants to mend this clock.

Special Difficulties

He is finding it difficult to get it off the ground. (ll. 3—4)

Study these sentences:

I can't make him change his mind. (SD144) (I can't compel him to change his mind.)

I can't get him to change his mind. (I can't persuade him to change his mind.)

Exercise

Rewrite the following sentences using get in place of make.

1. I made him tell me the truth.
2. He made me answer his questions.
3. She made the boy take the examination.
4. He made me translate the article into English.
5. I shall make the driver stop the bus.
6. You will never make him do it.
7. I can't make him realize how dangerous this is.
8. I couldn't make him do so much work.

67 Volcanoes

يانار تاغنىڭ سىرى

Haroun Tazieff, the Polish scientist, has spent his life—time studying active volcanoes and deep caves in all parts of the world. In 1948, he went to lake Kivu in the Congo to observe a new volcano which he later named Kituro. Tazieff was able to set up his camp very close to the volcano while it was erupting violently.

Though he managed to take a number of brilliant photographs, he could not stay near the volcano for very long. He noticed that a river of liquid rock was coming towards him. It threatened to surround him completely, but Tazieff managed to escape just in time. He waited until the volcano became quiet and he was able to return two days later. This time, he managed to climb into the mouth of Kituro so that he could take photographs and measure temperatures. Tazieff has often risked his life in this way. He has been able to tell us more about active volcanoes than any man alive.

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 80 words.

1. Where did Tazieff, the Polish scientist, go in 1948? Why did he go there? What did he call it? (to ... which)
2. Did he take photographs or not? Did he have to leave almost at once or not? Did a river of liquid rock threaten to surround him or not? (After taking...because)
3. Did he escape just in time or not? When did he return? Had the volcano become quiet, or was it still active? (but...when)
4. Where did he climb this time? Why did he do so? (in order to)

Composition

Write three or four sentences using the ideas given below:

Tazieff went into mouth of Kituro — saw the boiling red centre — ash — lumps of rock shooting up — in great danger — took photographs — returned to camp.

Letter—writing

Write six sentences beginning with each of the following:

Thank you ... ; What a ... ; Forgive ... ; I have not ... ; I am sorry ... ; It was very ...

Key Structures

Can, Able to and Manage to a Do you remember these sentences: (KS 107b and c)

I couldn't understand him.

I wasn't able to understand him.

He was able to leave Europe before the war began.

b Managed to can be used like was able to to show that an action has been completed successfully. (KS 107c)

Instead of saying: We can say:

He didn't agree with me at first but I was able to persuade him. He didn't agree with me at first but I managed to persuade him.

He was able to leave Europe before the war began. He managed to leave Europe before the war began.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs could, was able to and managed to in the passage. Note how they have been used.

B. Supply could, was able to or managed to in this paragraph. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

Tazieff ... set up his camp very close to the volcano while it was erupting violently. Though he ... take a number of brilliant photographs, he ... not stay near the volcano for very long. He noticed that a river of liquid rock was coming towards him. It threatened to surround him completely, but Tazieff ... escape just in time. He waited until the volcano became quiet and he ... return two days later. This time, he ... climb into the mouth of Kituro so that he... take photographs and measure temperatures.

C. Rewrite these sentences using managed to in place of could not.

1. I could not get into town this morning.
2. They could not find the boy who had run away.
3. He could not find a new job.
4. I could not translate the passage into English.

5. They could not swim to the other side of the river.

Special Difficulties

Phrases with Say and Tell. (KS 41) Study these phrases:

a Say

Did he say anything to you about it? No, he said nothing.

He knelt down and said his prayers.

If you want some more cake, please say so.

I'm sure it would help if you could say a good word for him.

He said goodbye and left.

Please say no more about it.

b Tell

He has been able to tell us more about volcanoes ... (ll. 19—20)

Can you tell me anything about it?

Please tell us a story.

Can you tell the time in English?

I want you to tell me the truth.

He often tells lies.

If you promise not to tell anyone. I'll tell you a secret.

Can't you tell the difference between an Austin and a Morris?

Exercise

Supply the correct form of say or tell in the following sentences:

1. He is only five, but he can already ... the time.
2. They asked the prisoner several questions, but he ... nothing.
3. If you ... so, I suppose it's true. I don't think you would ...
me a lie.
4. They are so alike, I can't ... the difference between them.
5. He ... me about his experiences in the Navy.

6. If you could ... a good word for him, he might get the job.

69 But Not Murder!

لېكىن، قاتىللىق ئەمەس

I was being tested for a driving licence for the third time. I had been asked to drive in heavy traffic and had done so successfully. After having been instructed to drive out of town, I began to acquire confidence. Sure that I had passed, I was almost beginning to enjoy my test. The examiner must have been pleased with my performance, for he smiled and said, 'Just one more thing, Mr Eames. Let us suppose that a child suddenly crosses the road in front of you. As soon as I tap on the window, I want the car to be stopped immediately.' I continued driving and after some time, the examiner tapped loudly. Though the sound could be heard clearly, it took me a long time to react. I suddenly pressed the brake pedal hard and we were both thrown forward. The examiner looked at me sadly. 'Mr Eames,' he said, in a mournful voice, 'you have just killed that child!'

Comprehension and Précis

Answer these questions in not more than 80 words.

1. Had Mr Eames driven successfully in heavy traffic during his third driving test or not? What did the examiner instruct him to do? (when)
2. What did he tell him to suppose? (that... would)
3. What would Mr Eames have to do when the examiner tapped on the window?
4. Did he tap loudly or not? Did Mr Eames react quickly enough or not? What was he told? (Though... and)

Composition

Write two or three sentences using the ideas given below:

Three months later Eames appeared for his fourth test—again told to stop—the examiner was thrown forward, but the child's life was saved—Eames passed his test, but the examiner said, 'You nearly killed me this time!'

Letter—writing

Write five opening phrases which could be used in letters to friends or relations.

Key Structures

After having been instructed to drive out of town, I began to acquire confidence.

a You have learnt to write sentences like these:

It was made in Germany in 1681. (KS 31)

I told you it could be done. (KS53)

I can't find my bag. It must have been stolen.

The man was being questioned by the police. (KS 89)

He never expected the bicycle to be found.

I found the parcel had been sent to the wrong address. (KS 111)

b Now study these sentences:

Instead of saying

After he was arrested, the man confessed that he had stolen the money.

After he had been instructed to drive out of town, he began to acquire confidence.

We can say:

After being arrested, the man confessed that he had stolen the money.

After having been instructed to drive out of town, he began to acquire confidence.

Exercises

A. Underline the verbs in the passage which are similar in form to the examples given above.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

I (test) for a driving licence for the third time. I (ask) to drive in heavy traffic and had done so successfully. After (have/instruct) to drive out of town, I began to acquire confidence. Sure that I had passed, I was almost beginning to enjoy my test. The examiner (must/please) with my performance, for he smiled and said, 'just one more thing, Mr Eames. Let us suppose that a child suddenly crosses the road in front of you. As soon as I tap on the window, I want the car to (stop) immediately.'

I continued driving and after some time, the examiner tapped loudly. Though the sound (could/hear) clearly, it took me a long time to react. I suddenly pressed the brake pedal hard and we both (throw) forward.

Special Difficulties

Words Often Confused.

a licence, Practice, Advice.

Study these pairs of sentences:

I was being tested for a driving licence. (1. I)

We are licensed to sell beer and spirits.

He still needs a lot of practice.

He practises the piano every day.

I want to give you some advice.

What do you advise me to do?

b Enjoy, Entertain, and Amuse. Study these examples:

I was almost beginning to enjoy my test. (ll. 6 — 7)

We enjoyed ourselves at the party.

He entertained me to dinner.

He entertained everybody with his clever tricks.

The children were amused by the circus clown. (They laughed.)

His funny stories amused us all. (They made us laugh.)

That child can amuse himself for hours playing in the sand.

(He can pass his time happily.)

Exercise

Choose the correct words in the following sentences:

1. I never (amuse)(enjoy)(practicing)(practising) the piano.

70 Red for Danger

قىزىل رەڭلىك بالا-قازا

During a bullfight, a drunk suddenly wandered into the middle of the ring. The crowd began to shout, but the drunk was unaware of the danger. The bull was busy with the matador at the time, but it suddenly caught sight of the drunk who was shouting rude remarks and waving a red cap. Apparently sen—sitive to criticism, the bull forgot all about the matador and charged at the drunk. The crowd suddenly grew quiet. The drunk, however, seemed quite sure of himself. When the bull got close to him, he clumsily stepped aside to let it pass. The crowd broke into cheers and the drunk bowed. By this time, however, three men had come into the ring and they quickly dragged the drunk to safety. Even the bull seemed to feel sorry for him, for it looked on sympathetically until the drunk was out of the way before once more turning its attention to the matador.

71 A Famous Clock

مەشھۇر تام سائىتى

When you visit London, one of the first things you will see is Big Ben, the famous clock which can be heard all over the world on the B. B. C. If the Houses of Parliament had not been burned down in 1834, the great clock would never have been erected. Big Ben takes its name from Sir Benjamin Hall who was responsible for the making of the clock when the new Houses of Parliament were being built. It is not only of immense size, but is extremely accurate as well. Officials from Greenwich Observatory have the clock checked twice a day. On the B. B. C. you can hear the clock when it is actually striking because microphones are connected to the clock tower. Big Ben has rarely gone wrong. Once, however, it failed to give the correct time. A painter who had been working on the tower hung a pot of paint on one of the hands and slowed it down!

72 A Car called 'Bluebird'

«كۆك قۇشقاچ» ئاپتوموبىل مۇسابىقىسى

The great racing driver, Sir Malcolm Campbell, was the first man to drive at over 300 miles per hour. He set up a new world record in September 1935 at Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah. Bluebird, the car he was driving, had been specially built for him.

It was over 30 feet in length and had a 2500 horse — power en—gine. Although Campbell reached a speed of over 304 miles per hour, he had great difficulty in controlling the car because a tyre burst during the first run. After his attempt, Campbell was disappointed to learn that his average speed had been 299 miles per hour. However, a few days later, he was told that a mistake had been made. His average speed had been 301 miles per hour. Since that time, racing drivers have reached speeds of over 400 miles an hour. Following his father's footsteps many years later, Sir Malcolm's son, Donald, also set up a world record. Like his father, he was driving a car called Bluebird.

Unit 4

3. He told us a story about ghosts.
2. She gave me a present for my birthday.
4. We stopped at an inn in the village.
2. The leader of the party made a speech.

INSTRUCTIONS TO THE STUDENT

In Unit 4 you will be expected to write simple, compound and complex statements. You will have less help than you had in the previous Units.

Before you begin each exercise, read these instructions carefully. Read them each time you begin a new piece. They are very important.

How to work - Précis

Unit 4 contains twenty — four short passages. There are no Comprehension questions under these passages. Instead, you will find the answers to imaginary questions. These 'answers' have been written in note form and are, in fact, the main points of a précis.

1. Read the passage carefully two or three times. Make sure you understand it.
2. Read the general instructions immediately below each passage. They will tell you what you have to do.
3. Under the titles CONNECTIONS, you will find two sets of joining words which have been given with each list of POINTS.
4. Using the first set of connections, join up the points to make sentences. The number of points which each sentence will contain is given in brackets. All your sentences together should form a complete paragraph. When joining up the points, you may refer to the passage as much as you like.
5. Read through your work and correct your mistakes.
6. Count the number of words in your paragraph. Do not go over the word limit. Words like 'the,' 'a' etc. count as single words.

Words which are joined by a hyphen (e. g. 'living—room') also count as single words. At the end of your paragraph, write the number of words that you have used.

7. Now, using the second set of connections, write another précis of the passage in exactly the same way.

Example

Work through this example carefully and then try to do the exercises in Unit 4 in the same way.

The Sacred Tree

In the nineteenth century, Mugo Kibiru, a famous prophet of the Kikuyu tribe, foretold that a fig tree at Thika, twenty — six miles north of Nairobi, would wither and die on the day that Kenya gained independence. Kibiru also prophesied that Kenya would become a white man's colony, but that one day the white man would return the land to the Africans. He foresaw the coming of the railway which he described as 'an iron snake with many legs, like an earthworm.' Kibiru's prophecies proved to be so accurate that for many years the tree at Thika was regarded as sacred. Even the white men took the prophecy seriously, for they built the tree up with earth and put a concrete wall around it so that it would not fall. These measures were doomed to fail. Shortly before Kenya gained independence, the tree was struck by lightning and it began to wither rapidly. By the day Kenya officially became independent, it had decayed completely, fulfilling the prophecy made over seventy years before by Kibiru.

Précis

In not more than 80 words write an account of the tree at Thika,

1. A Possible Answer (First set of Connections)

In the nineteenth century, Kibiru, a famous prophet of the Kikuyu tribe, foretold that a fig tree at Thika would wither when Kenya became independent. As many of Kibiru's prophecies proved to be accurate, the tree was considered sacred. Though white men built a wall round the tree, they could not prevent it from falling. Kibiru's prophecy came true, for the tree was struck by lightning just before Kenya gained her independence and it decayed completely. (76 words)

2. A Possible Answer (Second set of Connections)

According to a prophecy made in the nineteenth century by the Kikuyu prophet, Kibiru, a fig tree at Thika would wither on the day that Kenya gained independence. Other prophecies made by Kibiru proved to be accurate so the tree was regarded as sacred. The white men even built a wall round it to prevent it from falling, but the prophecy came true. After having been struck by lightning just before Kenya became independent, the tree decayed completely. (78 words)

Composition

In Unit 4 Composition exercises are based on ideas suggested by each passage. You will be asked to write two paragraphs of about 150 words using ideas which have been given in note form. You may, of course, add to these ideas if you wish or change them to make them suit your purposes.

Example

Work through this example carefully and then try to do the Composition exercises in the same way.

Composition

Write an imaginary account of what happened to the tree from the time it was struck by lightning to when Kenya gained her independence. Write two paragraphs of about 150 words using the ideas given below.

1. Shortly before independence—storm—tree struck— news to Nairobi — whole of Kenya — Kibiru's prophecy true.
2. Visitors from all parts of Kenya—excitement—tree decayed— completely by independence day — high wall remained—life to a new country.

A Possible Answer

Shortly before Kenya gained her independence, there was a terrible storm. The next morning, the inhabitants of Thika were astonished to find that the sacred tree had been struck by lightning. Its trunk was split in the middle and blackened branches lay everywhere. The news travelled quickly to Nairobi. Soon everybody in Kenya heard that the sacred tree had begun to wither. It now seemed certain that Kibiru's prophecy would come true.

During the next few weeks, people came from all parts of Kenya to see the sacred tree. The tree decayed before their eyes. Everybody was excited and a little frightened by what was happening. Day by day, branches fell, until only part of the trunk remained. By independence day, the trunk had decayed completely. Only the high wall which had been built by the white men was still standing. The dead tree had given its life to a new country. (About 150 words)

Letter — writing

Follow the instructions given under each passage.

Key Structures and Special Difficulties

When you finish the Letter — writing exercise, go on to the language exercises that follow. The Key Structures deal with exactly the same problems that were considered in Units 1, 2 and 3. In this Unit you will revise what you have learnt so far. You may refer back if you have forgotten anything. Special Difficulties are dealt with after the Key Structures. The work you do in grammar is based on material contained in the passages. Refer to the passages frequently. They will help you to understand the grammar and to do the exercises.

73 The Record — Holder

رېكورتنى ساقلاپ قالغۇچى

Little boys who play truant from school are unimaginative. A quiet day's fishing, or eight hours in a cinema seeing the same film over and over again, is usually as far as they get. They have all been put to shame by a boy who, while playing truant, travelled 1600 miles. He hitch—hiked to Dover and, towards evening, went into a boat to find somewhere to sleep. When he woke up next morning, he discovered that the boat had, in the meantime, travelled to Calais. No one noticed the boy as he crept off. From there, he hitch — hiked to Paris in a lorry. The driver gave him a few biscuits and a cup of coffee and left him just outside the city. The next car the boy stopped did not take him into the centre of Paris as he hoped it would, but to Perpignan on the French — Spanish border. There he was picked up by a policeman and sent back to England by the local authorities. He has surely set up a record for the thousands of boys who dream of evading school.

74 Out of the Lime — Light

سەھنىنىڭ سىرتىدا

An ancient bus stopped by a dry river bed and a party of famous actors and actresses got off. Dressed in dark glasses and old clothes, they had taken special precautions so that no one should recognize them. But as they soon discovered, disguises can sometimes be too perfect.

‘This is a wonderful place for a picnic,’ said Gloria Gleam.

‘It couldn’t be better, Gloria,’ Brinksley Meers agreed. ‘No newspaper men, no film fans! Why don’t we come more often?’

Meanwhile, two other actors, Rockwall Slinger and Merlin Greeves, had carried two large food baskets to a shady spot under some trees. When they had all made themselves comfortable, a stranger appeared. He looked very angry. ‘Now you get out of here, all of you!’ he shouted. ‘I’m sheriff here. Do you see that notice? It says “No Camping” — in case you can’t read!’

‘Look, sheriff,’ said Rockwall, ‘don’t be too hard on us. I’m Rockwall Slinger and this is Merlin Greeves.’

‘Oh, is it?’ said the sheriff with a sneer. ‘Well, I’m Brinksley Meers, and my other name is Gloria Gleam. Now you get out of here fast!’

When a light passenger plane flew off course some time ago, it crashed in the mountains and its pilot was killed. The only passengers, a young woman and her two baby daughters, were unhurt. It was the middle of winter. Snow lay thick on the ground. The woman knew that the nearest village was miles away.

She turned a suit-case into a bed

When it grew dark, she turned a suit — case into a bed and put the children inside it, covering them with all the clothes she could find. During the night, it got terribly cold. The woman kept as near as she could to the children and even tried to get into the case herself, but it was too small. Early next morning, she heard planes passing overhead and wondered how she could send a signal. Then she had an idea. She stamped out the letters 'SOS' in the snow. Fortunately, a pilot saw the signal and sent a message by radio to the nearest town. It was not long before a helicopter arrived on the scene to rescue the survivors of the plane crash.

Two of the leading growers, Giuseppe Moldova and Riccardo Brabante, tell me that they have been expecting a splendid crop this year and harvesting has begun earlier than usual. Here you can see two workers who, between them, have just finished cutting three cart—loads of golden brown macaroni stalks. The whole village has been working day and night gathering and threshing this year's crop before the September rains. On the right, you can see Mrs Brabante herself. She has been helping her husband for thirty years now. Mrs Brabante is talking to the manager of the local factory where the crop is processed. This last scene shows you what will happen at the end of the harvest; the famous Calabrian macaroni—eating competition! Signor Fratelli, the present champion, has won it every year since 1961. And that ends our special bulletin for today, Thursday, April 1st. We're now returning you to the studio.'

Composition

Write an imaginary account of a macaroni—eating competition. Write two paragraphs in about 150 words using the ideas given below:

1. The appearance of the six competitors—all very fat—their past achievements—huge quantity of macaroni prepared, weighed and served.
2. Quantity, not speed was the important thing—competitors eating for three hours—only one man left—he asked for more!

Letter—Writing

Write a suitable Purpose of about 50 words to follow this introductory paragraph:

I have just heard that Tom Blake will be staying with you for a week. I would love to meet him again as I haven't seen him for years.

Key Structures

What has happened? What has been happening?

Review: KS 19, 77, 133.

Exercises

A. Underline all the verbs in the passage which tell us what has happened and what has been happening.

B. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise:

Macaroni (grow) in this area for over six hundred years. Two of the leading growers, Giuseppe Moldova and Riccardo Brabante, tell me that they (expect) a splendid crop this year and harvesting (begin) earlier than usual. Here you can see two workers who, between them, just (finish) cutting three cart—loads of golden brown macaroni stalks. 77 A Successful Operation

مۇۋەپپەقىيەتلىك قىلىنغان ئوپېراتسىيە

The mummy of an Egyptian woman who died in 800 B. C. has just had an operation. The mummy is that of Shepenmut who was once a singer in the Temple of Thebes. As there were strange marks on the X-ray plates taken of the mummy, doctors have been trying to find out whether the woman died of a rare disease. The only way to do this was to operate. The operation, which lasted for over four hours, proved to be very difficult because of the hard resin which covered the skin. The doctors removed a section of the mummy and sent it to a laboratory. They also found something which the X-ray plates did not show; a small wax figure of the god Duamutef. This god which has the head of a cow was normally placed inside a mummy. The doctors have not yet decided how the woman died. They feared that the mummy would fall to pieces when they cut it open, but fortunately this has not happened. The mummy successfully survived the operation.

78 The Last One?

ئەڭ ئاخىرقىسى

After reading an article entitled 'Cigarette Smoking and Your Health' I lit a cigarette to calm my nerves. I smoked with concentration and pleasure as I was sure that this would be my last cigarette. For a whole week I did not smoke at all and during this time, my wife suffered terribly. I had all the usual symptoms of someone giving up smoking: a bad temper and an enormous appetite. My friends kept on offering me cigarettes and cigars. They made no effort to hide their amusement whenever I produced a packet of sweets from my pocket. After seven days of this I went to a party. Everybody around me was smoking and I felt extremely uncomfortable. When my old friend Brian urged me to accept a cigarette, it was more than I could bear. I took one guiltily, lit it and smoked with satisfaction. My wife was delighted that things had returned to normal once more. Anyway, as Brian pointed out, it is the easiest thing in the world to give up smoking. He himself has done it lots of times!

79 By Air

ئايروپىلان بىلەن

I used to travel by air a great deal when I was a boy. My parents used to live in South America and I used to fly there from Europe in the holidays. An airhostess would take charge of me and I never had an unpleasant experience. I am used to travelling by air and only on one occasion have I ever felt frightened. After taking off, we were flying low over the city and slowly gaining height, when the plane suddenly turned round and flew back to the airport. While we were waiting to land, an air—hostess told us to keep calm and to get off the plane quietly as soon as it had touched down. Everybody on board was worried and we were curious to find out what had happened. Later we learnt that was a very important person on board. The police had been told that a bomb had been planted on the plane. After we had landed, the plane was searched thoroughly. Fortunately, nothing was found and five hours later we were able to take off again.

80 The Crystal Palace

كرستال ساراي

Perhaps the most extraordinary building of the nineteenth century was the Crystal Palace, which was built in Hyde Park for the Great Exhibition of 1851. The Crystal palace was different from all other buildings in the world, for it was made of iron and glass, It was one of the biggest buildings of all time and a lot of people from many countries came to see it. A great many goods were sent to the exhibition from various parts of the world. There was also a great deal of machinery on display. The most wonderful piece of machinery on show was Nasmyth's steam hammer. Though in those days, travelling was not as easy as it is today, steam boats carried thousands of visitors across the Channel from Europe. On arriving in England, they were taken to the Crystal Palace by train. There were six million visitors in all, and the profits from the exhibition were used to build museums and colleges. Later, the Crystal Palace was moved to South London. It remained one of the most famous buildings in the world until it was burnt down in 1936.

قېچىش

When he had killed the guard, the prisoner of war quickly dragged him into the bushes.

Working rapidly in the darkness, he soon changed into the dead man's clothes. Now, dressed in a blue uniform and with a rifle over his shoulder, the prisoner marched boldly up and down in front of the camp. He could hear

The prisoner marched boldly up and down shouting in the camp itself. Lights were blazing and men were running here and there; they had just discovered that a prisoner had escaped. At that moment, a large black car with four officers inside it, stopped at the camp gates. The officers got out and the prisoner stood to attention and saluted as they passed. When they had gone, the driver of the car came towards him. The man obviously wanted to talk. He was rather elderly with grey hair and clear blue eyes. The prisoner felt sorry for him, but there was nothing else he could do. As the man came near, The prisoner knocked him to the ground with a sharp blow. Then, jumping into the car, he drove off as quickly as he could.

82 Monster or Fish?

غەلىتە مەخلۇقىمۇ ياكى بېلىقمۇ

Fishermen and sailors sometimes claim to have seen monsters in the sea. Though people have often laughed at stories told by seamen, it is now known that many of these 'monsters' which have at times been sighted are simply strange fish. Occasionally, unusual creatures are washed to the shore, but they are rarely caught out at sea. Some time ago, however, a peculiar fish was caught near Madagascar. A small fishing—boat was carried miles out to sea by the powerful fish as it pulled on the line. Realizing that this was no ordinary fish, the fisherman made every effort not to damage it in any way. When it was eventually brought to shore, it was found to be over thirteen feet long. It had a head like a horse, big blue eyes, shining silver skin, and a bright red tail. The fish, which has since been sent to a museum where it is being examined by a scientist, is called an oarfish. Such creatures have rarely been seen alive by man as they live at a depth of six hundred feet.

83 After the Elections

سایلامدن کپین

The former Prime Minister, Mr Wentworth Lane, was defeated in the recent elections. He is now retiring from political life and has gone abroad. My friend, Crawley, has always been a fanatical opponent of Mr Lane's Radical Progressive Party. After the elections, Crawley went to the former Prime Minister's house. When he asked if Mr Lane lived there, the policeman on duty told him that since his defeat, the ex-Prime Minister had gone abroad. On the following day, Crawley went to the house again. The same policeman was just walking slowly past the entrance, when Crawley asked the same question. Though a little suspicious this time, the policeman gave him the same answer. The day after, Crawley went to the house once more and asked exactly the same question. This time, the policeman lost his temper. 'I told you yesterday and the day before yesterday,' he shouted, 'Mr Lane was defeated in the elections. He has retired from political life and gone to live abroad !'

'I know,' answered Crawley, 'but I love to hear you say it!'

84 On Strike

Busmen have decided to go on strike next week. the strike is due to begin on Tuesday. No one knows how long it will last. The busmen have stated that the strike will continue until general agreement is reached about pay and working conditions. Most people believe that the strike will last for at least a week. Many owners of private cars are going to offer 'free rides' to people on their way to work. This will relieve pressure on the trains to some extent. Meanwhile, a number of university students have volunteered to drive buses while the strike lasts. All the young men are expert drivers, but before they drive any of the buses, they will have to pass a special test. The students are going to take the test in two days' time. Even so, people are going to find it difficult to get to work. But so far, the public has expressed its gratitude to the students in letters to the Press. Only one or two people have objected that students will drive too fast!

85 Never too Old to Learn

ئادەم قېرىسىمۇ بىلىم قېرىماس

I have just received a letter from my old school informing me that my former headmaster, Mr Reginald Page, will be retiring next week. Pupils of the school, old and new, will be sending him a present to mark the occasion. All those who have contributed towards the gift will sign their names in a large album which will be sent to the headmaster's home. We shall all remember Mr Page for his patience and understanding and for the kindly encouragement he gave us when we went so unwillingly to school. A great many former pupils will be attending a farewell dinner in his honour next Thursday. It is a curious coincidence that the day before his retirement, Mr Page will have been teaching for a total of forty years. After he has retired, he will devote himself to gardening. For him, this will be an entirely new hobby. But this does not matter, for, as he has often remarked, one is never too old to learn.

تورمۇزى تۇتماسلىق

As the man tried to swing the speed-boat round, the steering-wheel came away in his hands. He waved desperately to his companion, who had been water—skiing for the last fifteen minutes. Both men had hardly had time to realize what was happening when they were thrown violently into the sea. The speed—boat had struck a buoy, but it continued to move very quickly across the water. Both men had just begun to swim towards the shore, when they noticed with dismay that the speed—boat was moving in a circle. It now came straight towards them at tremendous speed. In less than a minute, it roared past them only a few feet away. After it had passed, they swam on as quickly as they could because they knew that the boat would soon return. They had just had enough time to swim out of danger when the boat again completed a circle. On this occasion, however, it had slowed down considerably. The petrol had nearly all been used up. Before long, the noise dropped completely and the boat began to drift gently across the water.

'At the time the murder was committed, I was travelling on the 8 o'clock train to London,' said the man.

'Do you always catch such an early train?' asked the inspector.

'Of course I do,' answered the man.

'I must be at work at 10 o'clock. My employer will confirm that I was there on time.'

'Would a later train get you to work on time?' asked the inspector.

'I suppose it would, but I never catch a later train.'

'At what time did you arrive at the station?'

'At ten to eight. I bought a paper and waited for the train.'

And you didn't notice anything unusual?

'Of course not.'

'I suggest,' said the inspector, 'that you are not telling the truth. I suggest that you did not catch the 8 o'clock train, but that you caught the 8.25 which would still get you to work on time. You see, on the morning of the murder, the 8 o'clock train did not run at all. It broke down at Ferngreen station and was take off the line.'

Letter—writing

Continue the conversation begun in the passage. Write about 150 words using the ideas given below:

The man suddenly 'remembered' that he had caught the later train—didn't he notice anything unusual? —not unusual for a train to be late—how did he spend the time? —waited on the platform for 25 minutes—read a newspaper —the inspector suggested that the man was lying—a neighbour saw him leave the house at 8. 15, just after the murder—the man was arrested.

Letter—writing

The Signature. How you sign your name depends on how well you know the person you are writing to. You may use your full name, your first name, or even a nickname. Your signature must be readable. It must come under the letter — ending.

Exercise

Write suitable letter — endings and signatures to the following:
Your sister; your wife or husband; your employer; a close friend.

Key Structures

He said that... He told me... He asked... Review: KS 41,99,155.

Exercise

A. Imagine that you are writing a newspaper report of the conversation that took place between the man and the inspector.

Answer these questions on the passage. Where necessary, use the words given in brackets:

Lines 1—3 What did the man say he was doing at the time the murder was committed?

Lines 4—5 What did the inspector ask him?

Lines 6—9 Did the man say that he did or that he didn't? At what time did he have to be at work? (because) What would his employer confirm?

Lines 10—11 What did the inspector ask him then?

Lines 12—13 What did the man suppose? Did he ever catch a later train? (but)

Lines 14—15 What did the inspector ask?

Lines 16 At what time did the man say he had arrived at the station? What did he do there? (He added that he...)

Lines 18—19 What did the inspector ask him? Did the man say that he had or that he hadn't? (When the inspector asked him ... the man...)

Lines 20—21 What did the inspector suggest?

Lines 22—24 What did the inspector point out?

B. Here is part of a report that appeared in a newspaper. Write the actual conversation that took place between the man and the inspector. (SD 74) Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

At the time the murder was committed, the man said that he was travelling on the 8 o'clock train to London. The inspector asked if he always caught such an early train. The man answered that he did. He had to be at work at 10 o'clock. His employer would confirm that he was there on time. Then the inspector asked him if a later train would get him to work on time. The man supposed that a later train would get him to work on time but he never caught a later train. The inspector asked him what time he arrived at the station. The man said that he had arrived there at ten to eight. He added that he bought a paper and waited for the train. When the inspector asked him if he had noticed anything unusual, the man said that he had not.

88 Trapped in a Mine

كان قۇدۇقىغا سولىنىپ قېلىش

Six men have been trapped in a mine for seventeen hours. If they are not brought to the surface soon they may lose their lives. However, rescue operations are proving difficult. If explosives are used, vibrations will cause the roof of the mine to collapse. Rescue workers are therefore drilling a hole on the north side of the mine. They intend to bring the men up in a special capsule. If there had not been a hard layer of rock beneath the soil, they would have completed the job in a few hours. As it is, they have been drilling for sixteen hours and they still have a long way to go. Meanwhile, a microphone, which was lowered into the mine two hours ago, has enabled the men to keep in touch with the closest relatives. Though they are running out of food and drink, the men are cheerful and confident that they will get out soon. They have been told that rescue operations are progressing smoothly. If they knew how difficult it was to drill through the hard rock, they would lose heart.

Composition

Continue the above passage. Write two paragraphs about 150 words using the ideas given below:

1. During the rescue operations there was a loud noise—collapse of mine—microphone silent—the men's voices were heard an hour later—they were all right.

2. Drilling began again—the collapse had made things easier—the men were brought to the surface—the scene on their return.

Letter—writing

 4. I would have found the house easily if he (give) me the correct address.
 5. If smoking (forbid), illnesses will be reduced.

Special Difficulties

The verb run has a different meaning in each of these sentences.

Study them carefully:

They are running out of food (1.18) (They have nearly used up all their supplies.)

A crowd of boys ran after the beggar. (They chased the beggar.)

That boy was nearly run over by a car. (The car nearly hit him.)

Don't drive so fast. This car hasn't been run in yet. (The car must be driven slowly so as not to damage the new engine.)

I ran into Helga while I was in Sweden. (I met her by accident.)

Exercise

Supply the missing words in the following sentences:

1. I ran....an old friend of mine in a restaurant yesterday.
2. While driving to work yesterday, I ran....petrol and had to walk to a garage.
3. This car will have to be serviced as soon as it has been run....

89 A Slip of the Tongue

ئاغزىدىن چىقىپ كېتىش

People will do anything to see a free show—even if it is a bad one. When the news got round that a variety show would be presented at our local cinema by the P. and U. Bird Seed Company, we all rushed to see it. We had to queue for hours to get in and there must have been several hundred people present just before the show began.

Unfortunately, the show was one of the dullest we have ever seen. Those who failed to get in need not have felt disappointed as many of the artistes who should have appeared did not come. The only funny things we heard that evening came from the advertiser at the beginning of the programme. He was obviously very nervous and for some minutes stood awkwardly before the microphone. As soon as he opened his mouth, everyone burst out laughing. We all know what the poor man should have said, but what he actually said was: 'This is the Poo and Ee Seed Bird Company. Good ladies, evening and gentlemen!'

90 Brasilia

برازىلىيە

Though Brazil is one of the richest countries in the world, much of it has not yet been developed. It was mainly for this reason that the Brazilian government decided to have a new city built 600 miles north—west of Rio de Janeiro. Designed by the great architect Lucio Costa, the new city, Brasilia, replaced Rio de Janeiro as the capital of Brazil in 1960.

Brasilia has been carefully planned for modern living. Its wide roads, which can take fourteen lanes of traffic, have been kept away from living areas. Children do not have to cross busy streets to go to school. Housewives can visit shopping centres on foot, for in these specially designed living areas, cars are unnecessary. At first, the government had great difficulty in persuading people to leave Rio and to settle in Brasilia. Since 1960, however, the population has been growing all the time. Brasilia has quickly established itself as the capital of the country. The idea to have the capital moved so far inland will have a great effect on the future of Brazil.

91 Three Men in a Basket

سېۋەتتىكى ئۈچ ئادەم

A pilot noticed a balloon which seemed to be making for a Royal Air Force Station nearby. He informed the station at once, but no one there was able to explain the mystery. The officer in the control tower was very angry when he heard the news, because balloons can be a great danger to aircraft. He said that someone might be spying on the station and the pilot was ordered to keep track of the strange object. The pilot managed to circle the balloon for some time. He could make out three men in a basket under it and one of them was holding field—glasses. When the balloon was over the station, the pilot saw one of the men taking photographs. Soon afterwards, the balloon began to descend and it landed near an airfield. The police were called in, but they could not arrest anyone, for the basket contained two Members of Parliament and the Commanding Officer of the station! As the Commanding Officer explained later, one half of the station did not know what the other half was doing!

92 Asking for Trouble

ئۆزىگە ئۆزى ئاۋارچىلىك تېپىش

It must have been about two in the morning when I returned home. I tried to wake up my wife by ringing the door—bell, but she was fast asleep, so I got a ladder from the shed in the garden, put it against the wall, and began climbing towards the bedroom window. I was almost there when a sarcastic voice below said, ‘I don't think the windows need cleaning at this time of the night'. I looked down and nearly fell off the ladder when I saw a policeman. I immediately regretted answering in the way I did, but I said, ‘I enjoy cleaning windows at night.’

‘So do I,’ answered the policeman in the same tone. ‘Excuse my interrupting you. I hate to interrupt a man when he's busy working, but would you mind coming with me to the station?’

‘Well, I'd prefer to stay here,’ I said. ‘You see, I've forgotten my key.’

‘Your what?’ he called.

‘My key,’ I shouted.

Fortunately, the shouting woke up my wife who opened the window just as the policeman had started to climb towards me.

Key Structures

I don't think the windows need cleaning. Review:

KS51,110,166.

Exercises

A. Give the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Do not refer to the passage until you finish the exercise.

I tried to wake up my wife by(ring)the door — bell, but she was fast asleep, so I got a ladder from the shed in the garden, put it against the wall, and began(climb) towards the bedroom window. I was almost there when a sarcastic voice below said, 'I don't think the windows need(clean)at this time of the night.' I looked down and nearly fell off the ladder when I saw a policeman. I immediately regretted(answer) in the way I did, but I said, 'I enjoy(clean) windows at night.'

'So do I,' answered the policeman in the same tone. 'Excuse my (interrupt)you. I hate(interrupt)a man when he's busy(work), but would you mind(come)with me to the station?'

'Well, I'd prefer (stay) here,' I said. 'You see, I've forgotten my key.'

'Your what?' he called.

'My key,' I shouted.

Fortunately, the(shout)woke up my wife who opened the window just as the policeman had started(climb)towards me.

B. Complete the following sentences:

1. I am accustomed to...
2. Fancy...!
3. I always avoid...
4. He accused me of...

By 1884, a statue which was 151 feet tall, (erect) in Paris. The following year it (take) to pieces and (send) to America. By the end of October 1886, the statue (put) together again and it... officially (present) to the American people by Bartholdi.

Special Difficulties

Stress.

Read these two sentences aloud:

The Statue of Liberty was a present from the French people.

It was presented to the United States of America.

In the first sentence, present is a noun and the accent falls on the first syllable: présent.

In the second sentence, present is a verb and the accent falls on the second syllable:

présent.

Here are some common words which are stressed in the same way: accent, conduct, contest, contrast, export, import, increase, insult, produce, protest, record, and transport.

Exercise

Read these sentences aloud. Mark in the correct stress of the words in italics:

1. This year we have exported more than we have imported.
2. Our records show that exports have gone up.
3. Everybody protested against the increase in income tax.
4. He was insulted when I criticized his accent.
5. Please conduct yourselves properly when you are in the museum.
6. He entered for the contest and broke a record.

بولغۇسى چىمپىيون

Experiments have proved that children can be instructed in swimming at a very early age. At a special swimming pool in Los Angeles, children become expert at holding their breath under water even before they can walk. Babies of two months old do not appear to be reluctant to enter the water. It is not long before they are so accustomed to swimming that they can pick up weights from the floor of the pool. A game that is very popular with these young swimmers is the underwater tricycle race. Tricycles are lined up on the floor of the pool seven feet under water. The children compete against each other to reach the other end of the pool. Many pedal their tricycles, but most of them prefer to push or drag them. Some children can cover the whole length of the pool without coming up for breath even once. Whether they will ever become future Olympic champions, only time will tell. Meanwhile, they should encourage those among us who cannot swim five yards before they are gasping for air.

95 A Fantasy

فانتازيه

When the Ambassador of Escalopia returned home for lunch, his wife got a shock. He looked pale and his clothes were in a frightful state.

'What has happened?' she asked.

'How did your clothes get into such a mess?'

'A fire—extinguisher, my dear,' answered the Ambassador drily.

'University students set the Embassy on fire this morning.'

'Good heavens!' exclaimed his wife. 'And where were you at the time?'

'I was in my office as usual,' answered the Ambassador. 'The fire broke out in the basement. I went down immediately, of course, and that fool, Horst, aimed a fire—extinguisher at me. He thought I was on fire. I must definitely get that fellow posted.'

The Ambassador's wife went on asking questions, when she suddenly noticed a big hole in her husband's hat.

'And how can you explain that?' she asked.

'Oh, that,' said the Ambassador. 'Someone fired a shot through my office window. Accurate, don't you think? Fortunately, I wasn't wearing it at the time. If I had been, I would not have been able to get home for lunch.'

96 The Dead Return

ئۆلگەنلەر روھىنىڭ قايتىپ كېلىشى

A Festival for the Dead is held once a year in Japan. This festival is a cheerful occasion, for on this day, the dead are said to return to their homes and they are welcomed by the living. As they are expected to be hungry after their long journey, food is laid out for them. Specially — made lanterns are hung outside each house to help the dead to find their way. All night long, people dance and sing. In the early morning, the food that had been laid out for the dead is thrown into a river or into the sea as it is considered unlucky for anyone living to eat it. In towns that are near the sea, the tiny lanterns which had been hung in the streets the night before, are placed into the water when the festival is over. Thousands of lanterns slowly drift out to sea guiding the dead on their return journey to the other world. This is a moving spectacle, for crowds of people stand on the shore watching the lanterns drifting away until they can be seen no more.
